Diseases Cured by Cuticura Remedies When Hot Springs, Doctors and All Other Medicines Fail.

Having been a sufferer for two years and a half from a disease caused by a bruise on the leg, and having been cured by the Cuticura Remedies when all other methods and remedies failed, I deem it my duty to recommend them. I visited Hot Springs to no avail and tried several doctors without success, and at last our principal druggist, Mr. John P. Finlay (to whom I shall ever feel grateful), spoke to me about Cuticura, and I consented to give them a trial, with the result that I am perfectly cured. There is now no sore about me. I think I can show the largest surface where my sufferings sprang from of any one in the state. The Cuticura Remedies are the best skin and blood cures manufactured. I refer to druggist John P. Finlay and Dr. D. C. Montgomery, both of this place, and to Dr. Smith, of Lake Lee, Miss.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

A Question of Privilege Reopens the Hewitt Dispute.

WOODBURN REPEATS THE CHARGE

The House Then Resumes Consideration of the Tariff Bill—Voorhees Apologizes to the Senate for His Unparliamentary Conduct.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The message of the president, transmitted yesterday, returning without his approval the bill for the sale of certain New York Indian lands in Kansas, was referred to the committee on Indian affairs.

Bryce, of New York, rising to a question of privilege, read the language used by Woodburn, of Nevada, in reference to ex-Congressman Hewitt having apologized to the British minister for offering a resolution of inquiry as to the case of O'Donnell, under sentence of death in Great Britain. Bryce stated that he had denied the correctness of the statement, and in vindication of his denial he had the clerk read a telegram from Mayor Hewitt, energetically denying that he had ever apologized to the British minister, and a letter in which he details the circumstance of the case. Mr. Bryce also sent to the clerk's desk and had read a statement made by Minister West in 1884, denying that Hewitt had apologized to him for his part in the transaction. These documents, Mr. Bryce thought, were sufficient to disprove the charges which had been brought against a relative of his in marriage, and an honorable gentleman.

Continuing, Bryce said it was "plainly the purpose of the gentleman from Nevada to excite against Hewett the feelings of a warm hearted and generous people, with whose struggles for liberty I heartily sympathize, as I often have heard Mr. Hewitt say he does himself. I can only state that I do not seek this controversy. It was thrust upon me, and I could not do otherwise than try to vindicate a gentleman for whom I have the highest esteem. This vindication I have made, and I now leave the matter to the calm sense of the house, without regard to partisanship, and to the sober judgment of the American people, which is always right.

WOODBURN REPEATS THE CHARGE.

Woodburn of Nevada said that he had never in his life knowingly made a charge he could not substantiate. He did not regard the denial of the British minister as a denial of the charges. In fact it was an admission. It has no better authority than the gentleman's (Bryce's) statement, who said that he was a relative by marriage to Hewitt. When he (Woodburn) made this charge he was informed by a reputable gentleman in Washington, who was on the floor at the time, that he was one of the committee of three representative Irishmen delegated by an Irish organization of America to investigate the truth of the charge made against Hewitt. The gentleman stated to him, and said he could prove it, that the result of their investigation was that Hewitt was guilty of the charge. One of the committee was correspondent of the New York Irish World, and another was Omeaghre Condon, upon their statements, in addition to the current literature of the day, he made the charge, and did not take it back. He needed better authority than a letter over signature of A. S. Hewitt, the interested party, defendant in the case.

A STATEMENT BY BRUMM.

Brumm, of Pennsylvania, said Bryce would bear him out in the statement that after the controversy a few days ago they had looked over the Record together, and that he (Brumm) had then and there agreed that the gentleman might either not publish anything in the Record with reference to it, or he might strike out the word "apology" and insert the word "explanation," or that he might fix it up in any way to suit himself consistent with the truth. The gentleman had fixed up the Record. The Record was not as it should be, but he had no objection to the manner in which the gentleman had seen fit to fix it up. But when the charge was made that no explanation was made by Hewitt, he still maintained that the charge was false, or at least not correct. His recollection was that Hewitt had made an explanation on the floor, but whether it was made on the floor or not, an explanation (the mildest term that he could use) was made by Hewitt before the committee on foreign affairs. Hewitt appeared before the committee and made a statement, but it was not made in the presence of anybody interested on the other side. He submitted that that was an explanation if not an apology. It was enough to convince the committee that it ought to accommodate Mr. Hewitt by going no further into the matter.

THE TARIFF BILL.

The subject was then dropped, and the house went into committee of the whole on the tariff bill.

Stockdale of Mississippi took the floor in continuation of his speech in favor of the bill. He said the cotton planter had received little consideration in legislation of the past. The cotton industry was the favorite of the colored man. In the name of justice and humanity he appealed for relief for the colored people, that they should no longer be held in servitude to the gigantic protected industries from which they derived no benefit, and to which they were under no obligations.

Hopkins of Illinois opposed the bill. He said the fact could not be kept from the people in the coming campaign that the democratic party stood committed unequivocally and irrevocably to the doctrine of free trade. The party had come into power by practicing a system of false pretenses upon the American people unparalleled in the history of political parties. Before the last election they had sent the brainiest and ablest man in the party, Samuel J. Randall, to New York to explain to the voters there that the manufacturing interests of the country would not be disturbed in the event of the success of the democratic party, and that the tariff plank in the Chicago platform meant only a wise and judicious rearrangement of the inequalities which all parties held the existing tariff to contain to a greater or less extent, and to require treatment. It had been Randall's boast that he had made it possible for Cleveland to occupy the presidential chair. How had the democratic party repaid his efforts, and how had his pledges been redeemed by the party? If rumor was correct, Randall was no longer a visitor at the White house. His counsel was no longer sought for by his party.

In conclusion, he entered his solemn protest against this attempt to overthrow the great business industries of America.

SPEECHES FOR AND AGAINST.

Mansar, of Missouri, delivered an exhaustive lecture in support of the bill, and contended that the internal revenue system should be continued for the payment of pensions and the remainder of the war debt.

J. D. Taylor of Ohio denounced free trade as a fragment of rebellion, and as being as dangerous to the country in 1888 as secession had been in 1861.

Richardson of Tennessee supported the bill, and referred to the antagonism of the republicans to every effort to which the democratic party had made to fulfill its pledges of tariff reduction.

McAdoo of New Jersey said he spoke as a democrat. He contended that the best way in which the surplus could be reduced was by the abolition of the internal revenue system.

Morrow of California, argued that no better course could be pursued with reference to the surplus than to apply it to the purchase of United States bonds. He was in favor of an economical administration of the affairs of the government. No extravagant expenditures should be indulged in, but congress should comply with the provision of the constitution granting power to provide for the common defense and general welfare. It should provide for the proper defense of the cities on the seaboard, and it should provide suitable accommodations for the transaction of public business in the cities of the country. The bill, he said, instead of building up the country, would retard its growth, and the exclusion of Chinese from this country would be of little value if the products of China were to be admitted free of duty to compete with our own products.

The committee then rose and the house adjourned till 8 P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

Stone, of Missouri, laid down the propositions that any article on which tariff duty was levied, was necessarily increased in cost to the extent of the duty; that a high tariff, by accumulating a surplus, contracted the circulation; that the American manufacturer had nothing to fear from foreign competition on the usual terms; that the tariff has nothing to do with maintaining the rate of wages; that the protective system tended to concentrate wealth in a few hands, and that the increase of national wealth during the last thirty years was in no possible sense due to protection.

Chapman, of Michigan, denied that the Mills bill was a free trade bill. He did not pledge himself in advance to vote for it, as he had some amendments to propose.

Martin contested the respective status of the two sides of the house on the tariff question, declaring that the democrats were boldly struggling for the interests of the country, while the republicans resisted all efforts at tariff revision. In conclusion he said: "We have a campaign before us that is to be conducted by the democratic party on the issue of reduction of taxes. We shall have hoisted at the masthead the name of Cleveland, and in fighting the battle of the people and will go to Kansas, Iowa and Michigan, and all the other Western states, and carry them against protection. We will carry this great nation for Grover Cleveland, president of the United States." Adjourned.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

Voorhees Apologizes for His Language to Ingalls—The Forfeiture Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—At the conclusion of the morning business Senator Voorhees arose, and after stating that he had been ill for almost a week, said: "Referring to a discussion in which I participated last week, I desire to say to the senate that however severe the provocation which was given, yet I made use of language at that time contrary to the rules of this body, parliamentary rules and usage, and the decorum of the senate. I regret having used such language, and tender a proper apology to the senate of the United States for doing so. My high respect for the dignity of this body, of which I so long have been a member, as well as my self respect induce me to make this statement."

After the close of Voorhees' remarks, Ingalls resumed the chair.

Hoar presented a memorial of the New England conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, protesting against ratification of the Chinese treaty or any treaty that precludes Chinese ministers of the gospel, or Chinese delegates to religious conventions, coming into the country; characterizing it as utterly un-American and un-Christian. Hoar said that until there could be an appeal from the American people drunk to the American people sober, the matter might be considered settled. He therefore asked that the memorial be laid on the table; so ordered.

THE FORFEITURE BILL.

The senate then resumed consideration of the railroad land grant for forfeiture bill, the question being on the amendment offered yesterday by Palmer.

Dolph moved to lay on the table Palmer's amendment to Spooner's amendment, being that nothing in the act should be construed to confirm any private entry for land heretofore settled upon, and now claimed under color of the homestead or pre-emption laws, but that in all such cases the commissioner of the general land office and the secretary of the interior shall hear and determine the claims of the parties respectively, according to the provisions of the existing law.

The amendment was laid on the table—yeas 23, nays 18.

Berry moved to lay on the table the amendment offered by Spooner, that the provision confirming the title of all persons holding or claiming land in the state of Michigan, to be disposed of by proper officers of the United States, under the public land laws, provided that the secretary of the interior shall be satisfied that cash purchases were made without fraud, and in a belief that the purchasers were obtaining valid title, shall not be construed as confirming any sales or entries of lands upon which there were bonafide pre-emption or homestead claims on the 1st of May, 1888.

The motion to lay on the table was defeated—yeas 17, nays 22, and the amendment was agreed to—yeas 25, nays 16.

A MOTION BY EDMUNDS DEFEATED.

Edmunds moved to recommit the bill to the committee on public lands, with instructions to report it amended as soon as it might.

The motion to recommit was opposed by Blair and Dolph, and defeated—only nine senators voting for it.

After some discussion of amendments affecting Michigan laws, the bill went over.

The following bills for public buildings were reported and placed on the calendar: Senate bills for Reno, Nevada, $60,000; for Virginia City, Nevada, $25,000.

A message from the president on the subject of the impressment into the French army of John Prussia, an American citizen, was laid before the senate, and referred to the committee on foreign relations, Stewart, who offered the resolution calling for the correspondence, remarking that the man had been discharged from the French army since the resolution was offered.

Paddock introduced a bill to amend the act to encourage the growth of timber on Western prairies; referred.

The senate adjourned.

RIGHTS OF NATURALIZED CITIZENS.

Secretary Bayard's Instructions to Minister McLane at Paris.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Concerning the enforced military duty required by France of naturalized American citizens, Secretary Bayard has instructed Minister McLane to inform M. Flourens that the government of the United States holds that a decree of naturalization granted by it to French citizens is not open to impeachment by the French government, either in executive or judicial branch, and if it is alleged to have been improvidently issued, the remedy is by application to the department of state. "You will further say," writes the secretary, "that if the subjection to forced military service of the citizens whose cases you report is based upon an assumption that they are not citizens of the United States, this department asks for their immediate release, and for proper compensation for the losses which they have received by such detention. It cannot be admitted that American citizens not charged with any crime should be detained under arrest for even a single day after their proofs of citizenship have been presented. In cases like this the United States can never admit the propriety of submitting to the ordinary delays of judicial action."

THE CHINESE TREATY.

Provisions of the Bill to Carry Out Its Stipulations.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Senator Dolph will report a bill from the committee on foreign relations, of which he is a member, within a few days, to carry the Chinese treaty into effect, which will undoubtedly pass both houses without delay. The designation of a limited number of ports at which Chinese may enter into the United States in Senator Stewart's bill will undoubtedly be adhered to. In that event Chinese coming by way of Mexico or British Columbia will be apprehended and sent back.

The provisions in the treaty allowing Chinese laborers freedom of transit across the country will be comparatively harmless if the secretary of the treasury will make proper regulations, and, if necessary, furnish the Chinese an escort. If this provision is rigidly enforced, few Chinese laborers will cross the country, and the expense of escorts to those who do will be comparatively light.

The proposition of Senator Stewart to make the collector sole judge of the right of Chinese to land, with appeal only to the secretary of the treasury, will also probably be adopted, and the courts will, if possible, be relieved from further jurisdiction in the matter.

One great advantage in the ratification of the treaty is the fact that the necessary legislation will follow without delay, whereas, if the Pacific coast senators had refused to accept the treaty, legislation against the further coming of Chinese would have been very difficult to obtain, and would have been postponed for the present.

A SUCCESSFUL APPEAL.

An Olympia Land District Entryman Given Another Chance.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Secretary Vilas today modified the decision of the commissioner of the general land office, who held for cancellation certain lands entered by Edward C. Smith, in the Olympia, W. T., land district, for the Orcas Island Lime mine, on the ground that the entry was for land other than that located. The evidence disclosed the fact that filed notes and notices posted on the land entered describe the entry as situated in sections 31 and 36, township 37 north, range 2 west, while the fact is the land is bounded by sections 31 and 36, township 37 north, ranges 2 and 3 west. The mistake is accredited to an error made by the United States deputy mineral surveyor. The secretary's modification permits Smith to make entry for the land he claims, upon showing that he has given the proper notice and furnished a new plat properly describing the land.

SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS.

Gen. Ewing, a Union Veteran Long in the Government Service.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—It is understood that Gen. Joseph W. Ewing, disbursing clerk of the department of justice, has been found short in his accounts to the extent of $8000 or $9000. Over $5000 of the money said to be unaccounted for belongs to the accounts for 1882, 1883 and 1884.

Gen. Ewing was a Union soldier of good record, and is one of the best known men in the city. He was appointed from West Virginia, and has held his present office for many years.

Gen. Ewing says that as soon as the examination now in progress is completed, it will be found that the government will lose nothing. The discrepancy, he says, is due in a large measure to the suspension and disallowance of vouchers by the first comptroller that had been paid by him in good faith, and approved by the attorney-general.

A number of petitions have been presented, asking the establishment of this route in Nevada, beginning at Winnemucca and passing through Camas Springs, Quinn River crossing, Denois station, Wild Horse, Alvord and Juniper Lake to Drewsey, in Oregon. The postmaster-general stated that the service would be put on if the inspector thought it was needed.

Russian Wool.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The treasury department has decided not to change the present classification of Russian wool. The United States consul at Odessa some months ago sent to the department a report on the Don wool washeries, and declared that all Russian wools are scoured with chemicals and subject to duty as scoured wools, and that their admission as washed wools has been a fraud and the result of a conspiracy. Maynard has investigated, with the above result.

Although announced to be a 15-round fight, the contest was dragged through 18 rounds, when judges declared a draw. Danforth's face showed more marks of violence than Havelin's, although neither man was badly used up. The fight was nominally for a purse of $500, and on the whole was a rather tame affair.

The Flood in the Mississippi.

DUBUQUE, IA., May 8.—The Mississippi river is still rising, and promises to go over the high mark of 1880. The volume of water coming down is beyond estimate. A POLITICAL SENSATION

Washington Legislative Affairs in a Serious Tangle.

WHO WILL BE THE LAW-MAKERS?

The Last Assembly Unwittingly Legislates Itself Into Two Sessions—Partisan Interests May Add to the Tangle.

[By Telegraph, from The Oregonian's Traveling Correspondent.]

SEATTLE, May 8.—That which promises to be the biggest political sensation which ever occurred in Washington territory, unless congress corrects matters, has just been developed. One of the laws passed by the last legislature was that the next session of the legislature should begin on the second Monday of January, 1889, instead of the first Monday of December, 1889. The object contemplated by this law was to have the session begin in January following the November elections, instead of something over one year after the members are elected. The members of the last legislature which assembled the first Monday of December, 1887, were elected in November, 1886.

There is no doubt that Mr. Thompson of Tacoma, who introduced the bill in the house, and all who voted for the bill, contemplated that the members to be elected next November would meet in legislative session on the second Monday of January next. This appears to be a mistake, according to the views taken by Attorney-Gen. Metcalf and other prominent lawyers.

THE SITUATION EXPLAINED.

The matter stands just this way: The legislature of 1885-86 passed a law prescribing the tenure of office, the text of which is as follows:

Sec. 1.—That all district, county and precinct officers elected by the people at the general election in the year 1884, and now holding office by virtue of the law there under, shall hold their offices until the first Monday in March, 1887, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Sec. 2.—That all district, county and precinct officers hereafter to be elected in this territory in pursuance of law shall hold their offices for the term of two years from and after the first Monday of March succeeding their election, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

From this it would appear clearly that the terms of the members of the legislature elected in November, 1886, did not begin until March, 1887, and consequently do not expire until the first Monday of March, 1889, or about three months after the next legislative session begins. From this it would also appear that the same members who composed the last legislature will again meet in legislative session in January next, and the terms of the members to be elected next November will not begin until March, 1889. This is the position taken by Attorney-General Metcalfe.

Charles F. Munday, assistant U. S. district attorney, who was a member of the legislature which passed the tenure of office act above cited, said to-day that the effect of the act was then fully discussed, and it was conceded that while it could not affect the members of that legislature, it would operate as to members elected for succeeding legislatures. Mr. Munday unqualifiedly sustains the position taken by Attorney-General Metcalfe.

The only difference of opinion as to construction of the tenure of office act rests on the meaning of the word "district" as applied to officers. Some say that the word "district" relates not to members of the legislature, but officers of the militia and such like. But as the territory is divided into legislative "districts," it would appear to be difficult to distinguish between the two words "district" in the above connections. KSZ

A LIVELY CONTEST ANTICIPATED.

The general belief here is that the situation promises lively complications. If the complexion of the next legislature should be democratic, it would afford inducements to struggle for such interpretation of the word "district" as would allow the members elected next November to meet in legislative session in the January following. If the complexion of the legislature should be a little more decidedly republican than the last, the democrats would have reasons for straining a point to have the old members hold over, for the democrats enjoyed advantages attending the equal division of the council, six being democrats and six republicans. Of course should the republicans nex fall elect a clear majority, as is expected, naturally they would desire, if possible, to enjoy the fruits of the victory.

The present difference of opinion suggests a likelihood of a row, in any event; the fact is, the democrats expect the republicans to elect a clear majority in both houses next November, and they are rather desirous of forcing the issue so as to enjoy the advantage of having as much to say in the council as the republicans.

THE COUNCIL.

Interest narrows down to the council, as the republicans had a safe majority in the house. The members of the council of the last legislature are as follows: Republicans—Milton Gabel of Whitman county, O. C. White of Columbia, John R. Thompson of Clarke, R. T. Hawley of Klickitat, Col. J. M. Steele of Pierce and John F. Gowey of Thurston.

Democrats—Joseph Foster of King, James Hamilton Lewis of Kitsap, Henry Roeder of Whatcom, B. L. Sharpstein of Walla Walla, J. M. Barker of Spokane and C. F. Cooke of Kittitas—twelve members in all.

There will likely be steps taken to have congress correct the difficulty.

Another interesting feature of the situation is the provision of section 1886 of the Revised Statutes, as follows: "No session of the legislature of a territory shall be held until the appropriation for its expenses has been made." If no change had been made in the time of meeting by the last legislature, the next session would have begun in December, 1889. Congress may not at the present session make an appropriation. If it does not, then the next session must go over altogether. The matter is causing much discussion, and present appearances are that lively times are ahead.

All is quiet to-day.

G R Chrisman respondent vs the State Insurance Company of Salem, Oregon, appellant, appeal from Lane County, judgment of the court below reversed, and a new trial ordered, opinion by Strahan J

Fire Insurance—Interest of Insured—The insured must have an insurable interest in the property both at the time the insurance is effected and at the time of the loss

Pleading—Plaintiff's Interest in the Property Insured—The plaintiff's interest in the property insured being as one of the essential facts upon which his right of recovery depends in an action founded on a policy against damage by fire such interest must be alleged in the complaint

Policy—Interest of Third Party—When a policy is issued to one party and assigned to another who has succeeded to the insured s interest in the property covered by the policy and consenting to such assignment the company agrees that the loss If any, shall be payable to C mortgagee as his interest may appear ' In an action on the policy by C held that the action might be sustained in his name, but the complaint must make his interest appear

Application—Policy—Where an application for insurance is referred to in the policy as the basis of the contract and it is agreed that it shall be deemed and taken as a part of the policy and as a warranty on the part of the assured, both the application and policy are to be construed together as one entire contract.

Jesse Sovern administrator of the estate of Johannah Goodchild, appellant vs S M Yoran, respondent, judgment of the circuit court affirmed, opinion by Lord C J

The finder of property has a valid claim to the same as against all the world except the true owner, and generally the place in which it is found creates no exception to this rule but in the sense of this rule, property is not lost if it was intentionally laid on a table counter or other place by the owner who forgot to take it away, and in such case the proprietor of the premises is entitled to retain the custody

Second, at common law, the finder of lost property was bound to hold for the true owner and was liable for misdelivery, but our statute has modified this rule and after doing the things prescribed for the purpose of ascertaining the owner the finder, after the expiration of a year, is required to turn over one half of such money or goods to the county and is entitled to retain the other half. In case of neglect or failure to do this the county may bring an action to recover the same

Third—When money was found hid in the earth and the defendant not knowing to whom it belonged, and there being no marks on it and no other indication by which the owner could be readily ascertained and the defendant treated it as subject to the provisions of such statute, held that there was no conversion

Fourth—The statute intends to treat property hidden and found as lost property where the owner is unknown, or to put them on the same footing It contemplates that he "who finds" must be some other person than the owner and as such person, whether the money be lost or hidden, it occupies the same relation to him and cannot come into his possession unless he finds it. Money found, therefore, may include money hid in the earth, or money lost upon it, and in either case if the owner be unknown the statute would seem to be broad enough to apply to either

The African Methodist Conference.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 8.—Bishop Waymes presided over to-day's session of the African Methodist Episcopal conference, and officers were elected.

Rev. W E Stewart, of Baltimore introduced a series of resolutions reciting the final proclamation that had been made of the accomplishment of the union between the African Methodist Episcopal church of Canada and the West Indies with delegates from the conference and laity comprising the British Methodist Episcopal church appearing here duly accredited, that Bishop Risney has been fully recognized by the Bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal church, therefore the union of the two bodies has been satisfactorily accomplished, and this conference pledges itself to stand by this election

This coalition while it has been nominally accomplished, has caused a protest from some of the Canadian and West India representatives, and it is understood that the matter has already been carried into the courts The presentation of the resolutions precipitated an excited debate but no conclusion was reached and they were laid aside informally

The board of bishops then announced the members comprising the thirteen committees of the conference, and the body adjourned

BLAINE AND CONKLING

An Explanation of the Latter's Silence in the Late Campaign.

THE DEADLY FOOL FRIEND AGAIN

Chairman Jones and Stephen B Elkins Deny the Truth of the Explanation—Various Political Events

NASHVILLE Tenn May 8—The American prints an interview with A M Hughes Jr chairman of the republican state executive committee regarding the failure of Roscoe Conkling to actively support James G Blaine in the last presidential canvass Hughes gives these facts never before made public In brief Hughes said

"Soon after Blaine was nominated Senator Chaffee realizing the importance of securing the assistance Conkling for Blaine in New York came East and went to New York for that especial purpose, that Chaffee as a result in a prolonged and earnest conference with Conkling secured from him a promise that if Blaine would write him a personal letter requesting personal assistance that Conkling would reply in an open letter, with a pledge to support him in the canvass, that Senator Chaffee elated at his success with Conkling got on the first train which left New York after this pledge was given and went to see Blaine, at his home in Maine The situation was explained and Blaine wrote the desired letter to Mr Conkling This letter was given to Walter Blaine to be carried by him in person to Conkling as a delicate compliment and Chaffee rejoiced that his mission was done and disappeared from the scene He anxiously awaited the publication of the response from Conkling but it never came

INTERFERENCE BY ' FOOL FRIENDS '

Investigation proved that Walker Blaine carried the letter to New York but on his way to Conkling s house stopped at the national republican headquarters, mentioning the purpose of his presence in New York to Steve Elkins, Ben Jones chairman of the republican national executive committee, and one or two others These managers decided it was best to ignore Conkling and that the letter must not reach him Accordingly it was suppressed and the world knows the rest

The animosity of Conkling was intensified at the additional affront and Blaine lost New-York

Hughes is positive that these statements are correct for they came directly from one of the gentlemen who suppressed the letter This man revealed the circumstance after the death of Conkling and when it was thought Blaine would not go before the next convention

AN OFFICIAL DENIAL.

Both Jones and Elkins Declare That No Such Letter Was Written

NEW YORK, May 8—Chairman B F Jones of the republican national committee in an interview with a Tribune reporter to-night emphatically denied the reported interview with him sent out from Pittsburg last Saturday night, in which he was made to say that Blaine could not support Allison Sherman or Harrison for the nomination, that Blaine was socially friendly to these gentlemen, but politically they were wide apart He had not received any letter from Mr Blaine since the letter of withdrawal Blaine, he said had certainly withdrawn as a candidate, but if the convention should nominate him, that is quite another thing That is the action of the people

When asked about the truth of the story printed in the Nashville American to day Mr Jones said he never saw or heard of such a letter and classified the story on a par with many others now floating about

Hon Stephen B Elkins was interviewed by the Tribune in regard to the same letter and said No, such a letter was ever written and no letter of the kind was sent by Walker Blaine Therefore it was not seen by members of the committee as stated We would have been only too glad to have seen Blaine and Conkling on good terms The whole statement is ridiculous

THE COLEMAN FAILURE.

Fair Prospects That the Firm Will Resume Business.

EFFECT OF THE NEWS IN NEW YORK

The Part the Mills Tariff Bill Played in Bringing About the Suspension—Description of the Borax Fields

SAN FRANCISCO May 8 Louis Sloss one of the assignees of William T Coleman & Co stated to-day that Mr Coleman had informed him that he would furnish the assignee and co assignee with a complete and correct inventory of the assets and liabilities as soon as the clerks could perform the work In regard to the condition of the firm s affairs Mr Sloss said everything looked favorable Mr Coleman informed him that he felt confident that the firm would be able to resume business as soon as its affairs are settled

HEAVY LOSSES IN A CORNER

In commercial circles one reason given for the failure was the effort last year of Coleman & Co to control the fruit trade of the Pacific coast especially raisins of which it was ambitious of making a corner Raisins were purchased all over the state in order to obtain control as well as other dried fruit and after prospective losses became apparent, it was said that the firm evaded as far as possible the filling of promised orders in a fruitless endeavor to recoup Where contracts existed however, this was impossible and in those cases the loss was sustained It is stated that over a million dollars must have been lost in last year s fruit transactions

A HOPEFUL VIEW

SAN FRANCISCO May 8—Manager Frank S Johnson said to-night about the business of the firm Our affairs are in even better condition than we thought We know that our liabilities will fall short of $2 000 000 while our assets will on the other hand certainly exceed $4 500 000 Things do not look at all black for us yet "

THE NEWS IN NEW YORK

Effect of the Failure which Had Been Anticipated by the Observing

NEW YORK May 8—The failure of W T Coleman & Co was a complete surprise in this city where the firm was well and favorably known A representative of Dix & Phyfe who acted as brokers of the firm in the East and negotiated paper in the East said that he had distributed lists of the paper of the San Francisco house among his clients as late as Saturday and yesterday telegrams came from various banks outside of the city announcing the acceptance of $40 000 of the paper of the Coleman house Notice of the assignment however was received and stopped the negotiation The paper of Coleman was considered A No 1 and was held all over the coast to the amount of about $600 000

SIGNS OF IMPENDING TROUBLE

NEW YORK May 8—The failure of W T Coleman & Co as telegraphed from San Francisco caused general surprise in the New York grocery trade to-day except among those who have been closely watching the course of events the last few months One of these significant events was the giving up of the building occupied by the firm in Hudson street and replacing the sign bearing the firm s name by that of another firm Another was the failure of the house to complete its contracts for salmon and other canned goods causing a loss to many New York houses Still another was the stoppage of that pushing energy to secure trade which prior to the beginning of the year characterized the New York representatives of the firm To these observers the reports of the failure did not cause much surprise There have been many evidences of high flying on the part of Frank Johnson younger member of the firm that did not indicate the sound business policy that marked the career of Wm T Coleman Many in the New York trade discredit the statement that the assets of the California house are twice as large as the liabilities, and think they don t reach half that amount

FURTHER DETAILS

At the office of the firm in this city it was stated to-day that no further information would be given out about the firm's assignment The gentleman who was in charge of the office said the firm would pay the creditors in full A statement of the full condition of the affairs of the firm will probably be made in a few days The failure has caused great surprise in the city The immediate cause was inability to meet heavy drafts from New York The liabilities are about $2 000 000 and nominal assets $4 500 000 one-half of which is represented in borax property

The firm was the largest producers of borax in the world and owned 18 000 acres of borax land in San Bernardino county and Inyo county California They also owned several thousand acres of land in San Rafael county Wm T Coleman the senior partner, was supposed to be worth $2 000,000

The firm had a branch in this city, but gave it up on January 1 when the new firm of Delafield Morgan Kissell & Co took the Eastern business Delafield said to-day that his firm merely represented the house as commission merchants It is said $900 000 of paper is held in the East, and $400 000 in New York city C W Brown, clerk in the Hudson street house, said that for some months he had a power of attorney for the firm of W T Coleman & Co He had not yet filed the power in any of the banks It was not given in anticipation of failure The failure was a surprise to him The money owed in the East was all borrowed on drafts and notes and was distributed among banks

The firm of Wm T Coleman dealt in salmon, nuts, green fruit and borax The last was one of its principal assets

The Sun has this additional information Wm T Coleman issued the following circular on January 3

"In order to more closely define the territory and interests of our New York and Chicago houses and to more clearly segregate the affairs of our respective establishments we have decided by mutual consent to reorganize the firm of William T Coleman & Co and to readjust the respective interests as follows For the Pacific coast and territory other than that now occupied by our New York house and Chicago agency the business will be conducted by Wm T Coleman & Co of San Francisco In the territory east of the Rocky mountains and Canada, Mr Richard Delafield our former partner will associate with himself Messrs D H Morgan and Rudolph Kissell of New York and Thomas B McGovern of Chicago representing us exclusively under the style of Delafield, Morgan, Kissell & Co New York and Chicago "

THE BORAX FIELDS

A Description of These Assets of W T Coleman & Co

SAN FRANCISCO May 8—The borax fields of Wm T Coleman over which there has been discussion since the suspension of his firm are situated in Death valley Inyo county The borax fields of the Harmony Company, as Mr Coleman's is entitled, cover several thousand acres There are other rich deposits in this state and Nevada and the apparent supply at present is inexhaustible There is enough borax on this coast to meet the demands of the whole world It is said that nowhere else in the United States is it found Out of 5000 tons which formed the yield last year, one fifth was shipped abroad One of Coleman projects it is said, was to control the borax market of the world and of six large companies operating on this coast five had it is reported formed a borax pool which the failure of the old mercantile houses will probably interfere with

CRIPPLED BY HIS PARTY

The Part Played by the Mills Bill in the Coleman Failure

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8—The fact should not be lost sight of when considering Coleman & Co's failure that W T Coleman head of the firm, has been a life long democrat His name has been mentioned more than once in connection with the governorship of the state and the mayoralty of San Francisco, but he steadily refused public station He would have been tendered the United States senatorship on one occasion if his party had won His fame as a merchant had become so widespread that at least one of the foremost newspapers of New York the Sun, has urged his nomination to the presidency of the United States It is only within a brief period that he declined the position of commissioner to Melbourne exposition, voluntarily presented by President Cleveland

It would seem that this democratic merchant has been compelled to suspend, perhaps only temporarily by the democratic policy on the tariff It is thought here that failure of this firm will prove one of the best republican campaign documents that could possibly be issued Says one evening newspaper ' When the protectionists have pointed out that financial distress and failures in business would follow such a free trade measure as the Mills bill the free traders have hooted the assertion Facts are stronger than any possible theory The answer to the jeers of the Cleveland Mills school comes in the crash of a great business house from the mere prospect that the bill will pass

Another journal says, referring to California interests affected by the tariff bill ' A victorious army of 100 000 men marching up the San Joaquin valley ravaging and destroying our orchards orange groves and wheat fields blowing up mining properties on a distant flank pillaging and devastating could not cause wider ruin than that which is so quietly ordained in the Mills bill '

THE METHODISTS IN CONFERENCE.

The Medical Association—Escape of an Aged Murderer—A Corner in Corn—Notes From Various Places.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The dead body of Daniel Hatch, a member of th[illegible] ter T. Hatch & Sons, bankers, [illegible] was found in the yard of No. [illegible] West Twentieth street, this morning. The story of his death cannot now be told. But the story of Mrs. Lillian Scofield, a handsome woman about thirty years old, suggests murder caused by jealousy.

Mrs. Scofield and her husband, Charles Scofield, were taken to the police station this morning where Mrs. Scofield said she had dined with Hatch, who accompanied her home about midnight. She invited him into the house. Scofield was asleep in the parlor, but was aroused by the movements of his wife and Hatch, and the latter was hastily concealed on the second floor.

Scofield's jealousy was aroused, and he questioned his wife in the most violent way concerning the man who had been with her. She steadfastly refused to give the man's name, and insisted that he had left the house. Scofield then left the house, she says, to search for Hatch, but could not find him. She thought he had also left. She retired and knew no more of the broker, or what happened in the night, until the body was discovered in the yard this morning.

Scofield was formerly a broker in good circumstances. He told the police that he had cause on several occasions to doubt his wife's fidelity.

Hatch was 33 years old, and lived with his wife in a handsome house on Fifty-[illegible] street. His wife was formerly one of the most prominent ladies in Brooklyn society. The generally accepted theory is that Hatch was killed by falling from a window while trying to make his escape.

A coroner's inquest was held this afternoon and Mr. and Mrs. Scofield were examined. From their testimony it was evident that Hatch was killed by falling from a window while trying to escape from the husband. The prisoners were therefore released.

THE GENERAL CONFERENCE.

A Suggestion That the Excluded W[illegible] be Paid Their Expenses.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Bishop Walden, Chattanooga, presided over the deliberations of the M. E. conference to-day.

Dr. Buckley, of New York, said that inasmuch as the lady delegates who were elected to the conference had been ruled out yesterday, their fares to and from their destinations should be paid by the general conference.

An amendment to pay Mrs. H. E. B[illegible] expenses was tabled. She was elected [illegible] delegate from the South India conference and resides at South Bombay.

The report of the second committee appointed to inquire into the eligibility of certain lay delegates, recommended that they be given their seats. The question came up as to the right of W. A. Shannon to represent the Montana conference. His seat had been contested by T. A. Riggins. The majority advocated the seating of contestant Riggins and the payment of Shannon's expenses. The report advocated the acceptance of the returns from Montana, and the record as it now stands on the minutes of the conference is that Shannon was legally elected. The minority report in this instance was accepted as a substitute for the majority report, and adopted. This carries with it Riggins's expenses. Adjourned.

A bombshell will be thrown in to the bishop's camp to-morrow. It seems that Lieut.-Gov. Collimback, of Indiana, it is reported to-day, will make a motion limiting the office of bishop to eight years. Heretofore the office has been for life.

THE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

Fifteen Hundred Members in Attendance at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, May 8.—The American Medical Association, with nearly 1500 members present, of whom twenty-five are women, held its primary session in Music hall to-day.

President Garrett submitted the annual address. He made several suggestions, which were received with great applause. Among them were the following: That a committee be appointed for each state and territory to further the passage of a law requiring that in future granting of charters for creating medical schools there shall be a clause requiring that all schools or colleges thus created shall demand a full term of three years' study before granting a diploma to a student thereof, and no student be admitted to matriculate who has not passed a satisfactory examination in the ordinary branches of academic study, and to secure an ordinance creating in each state or territory a board of medical examiners, which shall examine all applicants for license to practice medicine and surgery in their respective states. The faculties of the several medical schools within the limits of the United States are urgently requested to call a convention and adopt some general and uniform system of medical education, more comprehensive and rigid in its requirements, and more in accordance with the spirit of the age and the advanced progress of medical science.

The syndicate propose to keep corn well up to [illegible] for all the months up to the marketing of the new crop.

EAST AND WEST CABLE LINE.

The Washington Street Road Preparing for a Big Change.

Negotiating for a Cabled Line from First Street to the City Park—The Road on the Heights.

The Multnomah-street Railway Company is negotiating with parties in the East for the conversion of its lines into a cable railway system. The only obstacle in the way of the completion of this plan is the franchise, which will be in force for only twenty-four years longer. In the East, it is said, the shortest time franchises granted cable roads are for twenty-five years. As a general rule perpetual franchises are given. Either would suit the present company, which desires to make no trouble for its successors in the management of the affairs.

Yesterday an OREGONIAN reporter interviewed George B. Markle, Jr., president of the Multnomah street railway, relative to the proposed change in the system. He said: "We want to make a cable railway of our line. If the matter comes to a head, the first thing we will do is to convert that portion of the line from First street to the City park, a distance of a little over a mile. For this work we have received one bid, $110,000. This is exclusive of the rolling stock. The total cost of converting the line from First street to the park into a cable railway and putting it in running order would be $125,000 to $150,000.

"We have already improved our system at an expense way beyond additional returns. However, the receipts show an encouraging increase which is evidence that the people appreciate what we have done for their convenience. It is our intention to improve the entire system, which is three miles long. We may have a cable railway in operation by the time of the opening of the Industrial fair; if not we will have a double track on Washington and B streets, so that when the fair opens there will be no delay in the running of cars. In single track lines with switches if one car is late all the rest are thrown behind time. On double track lines every car runs on an independent schedule. If we lay an additional track we will use Bessemer steel rails which will make the cars run easier. We propose to do nothing unless we do it well."

THE PORTLAND CABLE COMPANY'S PLANS.

The Portland Cable Railway Company are making preparations to go on with the work of constructing the road to Portland Heights. Mr. Preston C. Smith is now in San Francisco for the purpose of engaging an engineer to take charge of the work of constructing the line, which the company propose to do themselves.

The intention of the company is first to complete the road from Jefferson to Spring street, and then to build out to Fairmount when they have thirty acres of land. Then it is expected that a company will be incorporated to build a hotel at Fairmount, which is the most sightly place in the vicinity of Portland. The company will then extend the road down Jefferson to Ninth, and eventually to Fifth and down Fifth to H, to the Union depot which is to be.

LINE TO LONE FIR CEMETERY.

Yesterday car No. 6 was put on the Morrison bridge railway line. Three more cars have been ordered from San Francisco. Efforts will be made to extend the line to Lone Fir cemetery by Decoration Day. All depends on the contractors who are improving the streets along which the line will run. The right of way for the road passes through a number of Chinese graves in one corner of Lone Fir cemetery. About twenty bodies have been disinterred. Among them was one wrapped in blankets. A spectator who asked a Chinaman the cause of so much digging received the reply: "Him heap sick; killed [illegible] accident."

DROUTH IN CALIFORNIA.

Very Gloomy Reports of Blistering Sun and Withering Winds in the Golden State.

Some idea of the dryness of California may be had from the statement of Mr. Epler, of Salem, who recently came back from there. He says he saw a 3000-acre field of wheat that had been destroyed by the hot wind. The wheat had been literally blown out of the ground and there would be no crop worth cutting. Such a thing as a lost crop of wheat has never been known in this state, and, judging from the past, it never can occur here.

Mr. Flemming, of Portland, recently had a letter from his brother, living at San Jose, who said that in his own orchards he will not have a quarter of a crop of apricots and prunes, and the same was true of all orchards of that vicinity, which is one of the best fruit districts in California. Mr. J. B. Wyatt has just received a letter from a friend in [illegible], who tells a different story. There had been favorable rains there and the fruit crop will be immense; but that applies only to a small district.

A Colorado stockman, who sold out his ranch near Denver and came with teams last summer, bringing a family of wife and ten children and many personal effects, left his family at Weston, Umatilla county, and has been through Western Oregon and California on a tour of observation. He represents that in the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys the wheat is literally burned out; he has seen plowing under wheat that was headed out when only a few inches high. The only good crops he saw were in Butte county, near Oroville. This county had the only good wheat he saw in all California. He was at Vacaville, sixty miles north of San Francisco, which is a famous fruit-growing section. The town is a village of [illegible] people and the land is planted to fruit. The valley is about a mile wide and is surrounded by high ridges. This is a warm locality, and the first oranges in San Francisco market came from there. The orchards of apricots and peaches are continually irrigated and cultivated to keep the ground moist because of the drouth. They say they have gone along without rain, though the wheat fields are all burned up. Where there is now good wheat, as in Butte county, they fear that the hot winds will come and ruin everything.

The Colorado man saw twenty wagons at Red Bluff, and the people said they were on the way to Oregon. He said that thousands are leaving Lower California because of the drouth and the general collapse of things since the "boom" has burst, and are on their way by teams, north, bound for Oregon or Washington. Thousands have bought land on speculation, and not being able to make their payments are leaving. One man paid [illegible] for a lot in Los Angeles and last week was offered $300 for it. The boom's collapse has proved disastrous to a great many people. He said around Los Angeles the country was all laid out in town lots for many miles in all directions, and it was hardly possible to exaggerate the story of the craze. The [illegible] had come and prices have dropped to a fraction of what was lately asked. It is estimated that 40,000 people were leaving Southern California and coming north Oregon-ward.

[illegible] cherries are a failure in California, there will be only a handful. The cherry crop will be a general failure. Some are a little anxious about the cherry crop in the vicinity of Portland, as cherry trees in this city that have always borne full crops, are [illegible] most of their fruit. H. E. Battin & Co., of this city, who also have a fruit-house in San Francisco, say they had engaged all the cherries on the Bidwell ranch, at Chico, but they have proved to be a failure. The trees are not bearing this year. The failure of cherries in California will make a good demand for Oregon cherries and the crop here is very fine.

California will hardly have a full yield of grain the present year. Some of their farmers have studied old records to learn that drouths have been known in the past there. They have learned that at one time twenty-two months passed without a drop of rain, and at another thirty-five months went by and not a shower gladdened the earth. At one time the Padres owned immense droves of cattle and horses, and during those seasons the pastures dried up and a great proportion of their stock died. Now so much land is under cultivation and orchards and vineyards are planted, that drouths have more effect on the climate and [illegible]

[illegible] brushy hair made [illegible] the hair stimulated [illegible]

KILLIN WILL NOT MAKE SPEECHES.

He Explains to Some Washington County Friends Why it is Unnecessary.

Hon. W. D. Hare, of Hillsboro, tells the following story about Bent. Killin, and vouches for its accuracy. About two weeks ago Killin visited Hillsboro and was asked by a faithful democrat whether he intended to make any speeches during the campaign. Killin threw his shoulders back and his abdomen forward an inch or two, and tucking his thumbs into the armholes of his waistcoat—we all know what sort of an attitude Bent would have struck under the circumstances—remarked in a patronizing tone, with considerable deliberation:

"No, I shan't make any speeches this campaign. Ahem! I don't think, really, it will be necessary. I've sent Johnny Geary out. I wrote him a speech and had the boys copy it real nicely on the typewriter. It was all devoted to the tariff, and—well, I guess if Johnny delivers the speech all over the state, that will be enough." And Killin unbent and walked away.

PROPERTY OF A DEAD MISER.

The State of Oregon Enriched to the Amount of $15,000.

No Heirs Found to the Estate of an East Portland Suicide—Mrs. Collins's Will—Other Probate Matters.

On motion of W. W. Page, special counsel for the plaintiff in the suit of the State vs. J. K. Wait, administrator of the estate of John Fenstermacher, to escheat the property to the state, Judge Stearns made an order yesterday escheating the property to the state. A summons was published for six weeks, but no heir appeared. The estate is worth about $15,000, consisting of four promissory notes worth $1465 and fourteen acres of land on the east side about a mile and a half from the river. The real estate will be sold soon and the promissory notes will be indorsed in favor of the state and turned over to it.

There is a peculiar history attached to this case. Fenstermacher came to Oregon in early days as a private in the United States army, and it is known that he was engaged in the battle with Indians at the Cascades under Gen. Sheridan, who was then a lieutenant. Subsequently he located in East Portland, engaging in all manner of manual labor. He was a miserly person, never known to expend a cent unnecessarily; and some who knew him intimately say that in his greed for wealth, he even deprived himself of sufficient to eat. He passed a miserable existence, till May 17, 1887, when in a fit of insanity he committed suicide by hanging himself. Previously he made an attempt on his life by cutting his throat. After his death search was made for his personal property, considerable of which was found buried in various places. A short time before his death he stated that he had lost several certificates of deposit representing no small sum of money, but he refrained from divulging the name of the bank that had issued them, and up to the present time the fact has not been ascertained. He never spoke of himself or family relations, and no one here ever knew from whence he came, hence, after his death, all efforts to learn as to whether or where he had lawful heirs were unavailing, although no little trouble was taken in the premises.

MRS. COLLINS'S WILL.

The will of Mary T. Collins was admitted to probate yesterday, and letters testamentary were issued to Mrs. M. A. Austin. The estate consists of property in East Portland and Albina valued at $17,700. To her daughters, Mrs. M. A. Austin and Mrs. Abbie A. Munger, Mrs. Collins bequeathed all her property, personal and real, except $100, which was devised to her grandchild, W. C. Munger, who will secure the money, with interest, when he becomes of age. She gives permission to her grandchildren to select any of her personal effects in the way of books, etc. To Mrs. C. Chapman is devised a trunk and a quantity of clothing.

OTHER PROBATE MATTERS.

The following orders were made:

Estate of J. R. McCail; final account of administrator filed and June 5 set for final hearing.

Estate of Joseph Hellering; will admitted to probate and D. W. Williams appointed executor and Lena Hellering executrix.

Estate of Thomas Heath; final and supplemental accounts of administrator approved.

BEGAN AT THE EAST END.

The Contractors on the Eureka Flat Line Disappoint Many Workmen.

A respectful, middle aged man named Harris, of Salt Lake, called at THE OREGONIAN office yesterday and complained that he and a number of other men arrived at Wallula the other day to work on the railroad for Corey Bros. & Co. They inquired, but no one could give them any information regarding the firm.

A letter to the East Oregonian, from Wallula, says: "Two hundred and twenty-five men, over one hundred and fifty of them Italians, have arrived here from Denver, Colorado, to work on the Eureka Flat extension of the O. R. & N. Upon their arrival they were informed that Corey Bros., subcontractors, did not want them, and very naturally they were very indignant, after having come so far to secure work. The Italians are particularly loud in their denunciations, and there is intense excitement among them.

Corey Bros. & Co. are the sub-contractors of Kilpatrick Bros & Collins, who were awarded the contract for building a branch line for the O. R. & N. Co., from Wallula to Estes, a distance of forty miles. They intended to go to work at Wallula, but on reaching that point received orders to go to Estes, begin work there and go toward Wallula. The entire outfit is from the east, coming from Utah, Wyoming and Montana. They now have 105 men and 85 head of horses, but expect the remainder of their outfit in a few days, when they will have 200 teams and 250 men.

HANNAH CONNELL.

This interesting and beautiful young lady, after a long and painful sickness, is now at rest in the home of God's children. She will be sadly missed; her presence was so sunshiny, her life so full of cheer, and her spirit so brave that those who knew her best will feel that they have sustained a great loss. While she had the strong desire to live which characterizes youth, yet she was not unwilling nor afraid to die, but, "leaning her head upon Jesus' breast, she breathed out her life sweetly there. Her casket was fairly covered with the fairest and sweetest flowers, and a large concourse of people gathered at her beautiful home in token of their love and esteem for their young friend. Her sweet spirit is now rejoicing with the saints gone before, and ready to welcome others who are passing over the river. C.

Moore's Revealed Remedy is not recommended on the strength of its peculiar discovery, but on its own merits. As a curative power it is fast proving to be the marvel of the age.

HOMEOPATHIC PHYSICIANS.

Twelfth Annual Meeting of the Oregon State Society.

Election of Officers—The President Tells of the Progress of the New School—To-day's Programme.

This society met in its twelfth annual session in the parlors of the Gilman house at half past ten o'clock yesterday morning. Dr. Z. B. Nichols, president of the society, in the chair.

The constantly increasing attendance and interest manifested at the annual gatherings of this society is gratifying alike to the members and to all believers in the once ridiculed principles of homeopathy.

The time is yet fresh in the memory of middle aged physicians of this school when Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes and others wasted much time and breath in vain efforts to show the falsity of what they styled "homeopathy and kindred delusions." But Dr. Holmes has himself lived to see the day when many of the physicians of his own city of Boston are homeopaths, while a medical school located there, the peer of any school in the land, is annually graduating scores of those who believe and practice this system, and beside it stands the Massachusetts homeopathic hospital, while his own conservative state has appropriated over a half million dollars for an insane asylum which is under homeopathic care. Within the bounds of the United States there are now two National homeopathic societies, five special and sectional societies, twenty-eight state societies, ninety-four local societies, besides numerous clubs. There are also twenty-five great hospitals, twenty-nine special and private hospitals, forty-eight dispensaries, thirteen homeopathic medical colleges and two special schools, three insane asylums, two public and one private and nineteen medical journals. The outlook for homeopathy was never so bright as now, and the cheering reports of progress made at this annual meeting add much to its spirit and interest.

At the morning session the minutes of the last annual meeting were read and approved, after which the society proceeded with the reports of committees. Reports were received from the executive committee, and from the committee on revision of constitution and by laws, who reported an entirely new constitution and by laws, which, after some discussion was adopted. The board of censors reported the name of Dr. A. D. Risdon of Salem, who was elected an honorary member of the society. The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year. President, Geo. Wigg, M. D., of East Portland; first vice-president, S. A. Brown, M. D.; second vice-president, C. E. Geiger, M. D.; recording secretary, S. Lewis King, M. D.; corresponding secretary, E. C. Brown, M. D.; treasurer, B. E. Miller, M. D.

Board of censors, C. E. Geiger, M. D., B. E. Miller, M. D., A. S. Nichols, M. D., Emma J. Welty, M. D., L. Henderson, M. D.

EVENING SESSION.

The address of "Welcome" was delivered by Dr. Geo Wigg in his usual happy manner, after which came the annual address of the president, Dr. Z. B. Nichols. In this address, which was full of interest throughout, Dr. Nichols noted the beginnings and traced the growth of homeopathy in all lands, narrating in a graphic manner its early struggles and its final triumphs. This address was deemed too valuable to leave unpublished, and was accordingly ordered printed in the press of the city and the American Journal of Homeopathy.

Following the discussion of the addresses by Drs. Miller, King, Charlton and others, a paper was read by Dr. C. L. Nichols on the subject of "Sanitary Science," being a plea for greater knowledge and care on the part of both physician and patient in relation to sewerage, defective drainage, ventilation, etc. A mere synopsis could not do this carefully prepared paper justice.

The society adjourned to meet at 10.30 A. M. to-day, sharp.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME—FORENOON.

MARKED INCREASE IN TRAVEL.

Home Seekers, Tourists and Inquirers Coming to Portland in Large Numbers.

Travel over the several transcontinental lines of railroad westward is better now than ever known at any previous period in the history of the Northwest. The human stream setting forth from the over populous eastern and western sections of the country is uninterrupted, and bids fair to fill all the sparsely settled regions of this state and Washington territory before long. By way of the Canadian Pacific, over the Northern Pacific, the Oregon Short Line, Oregon Railway & Navigation Company, and the Oregon & California, the tide of immigration is ceaselessly pouring. Accurately to estimate the total number of persons who arrive at the several points of destination daily would be difficult, but 1000 persons does not seem an exaggerated estimate. It is also hard to determine where all these people come from, and where each individual, family, or even colony ultimately settle. Besides those who come expressly to find permanent homes along the many fertile valleys and rich plains on the North Pacific coast, are hundreds who come to "spy out the land," to use a biblical phrase, to investigate the prospects, resources, etc., of the country. A very fair proportion visit us in the capacity of tourists, mere pleasure and sight seekers. Despite the boast of Tacoma about the large number of persons who arrive there daily, Portland finally receives the benefit of the natural, legitimate immigration.

Registers kept by the conductors on the trains running between Portland and Tacoma show that from 100 to 120 passengers a day are landed in this city from the former place. Of this number, it is fair to estimate that most of them belong to the "human overflow"—those who probable not finding Tacoma the paradise—in financial, mental and moral sense—which it is represented on paper, in their first flush of disappointment, turn their faces Portland-ward, but on the other hand a great many persons whose ultimate destination is Portland, in starting from the East purchase tickets via the switchback and come through Tacoma. A great many passengers destined for various points on Puget Sound pass through this city on the way north. And thus there is an endless mingling of this human tide—a ceaseless crossing and recrossing of orbits not unlike the scene disclosed on taking a peep into a beehive during a busy day in June.

The Oregon & California line is also one of the principal channels of travel. Tourists and immigrants are coming by scores every day, and a great many of the latter class find a lodgement in this country. Just now the steamers plying between Portland and San Francisco are bringing large crowds every trip. Hundreds of people are coming here from various points along the southern coast of California, some to settle, some to see what kind of a country the famous webfoot is, and others to spend their money and have a pleasant time in traveling. Judging from the present, the coming season bids fair to be a remarkable one in the great flow of immigration. It is perfectly safe that more people will visit Portland in particular, and the Northwest coast in general than was ever known in the history of city or country.

A Little Too Fast.

The Washington territory delegates also have a "first choice" as regards the republican candidate for president. The territories and the solid South had better give up the "first choice" racket, and let the republican states play it.

TOM STRONG'S LETTER.

He Will Stand or Fall by It—No Intention of Withdrawing from the Ticket.

Mr. Thomas N. Strong, one of the democratic candidates for representative, was questioned by an OREGONIAN reporter yesterday in regard to the resolutions passed by the democratic county committee Monday afternoon relative to his recent letter. Mr. Strong said:

"I have made all the statements I intend to, and the one published was made clearly enough. I have no intention of voluntarily withdrawing from the ticket. I did not wish to run for the legislature and leave the people in the dark regarding my principles, and I did not feel at liberty to obtain votes from people in ignorance of my real sentiments. In the democratic party we are free to vary in our opinions as much as we please, and have not yet reached such a point of perfection that we can afford to stop improving. I don't expect so large a party to have one opinion on all important matters."

NEWS FROM THE EAST SIDE.

The Union Labor Party Preparing to Run a County Ticket.

Reduction Works Resume Operations with Bright Prospects—Street-Car Extensions—The Proposed Albina Bridge.

There was a meeting Monday night of the executive committee of the Union Labor Club of this city. The object of the meeting was to take the preliminary steps towards placing a ticket in the field for the coming election. Delegates from Portland, Sellwood and Albina were in attendance, and considerable enthusiasm was manifested. There will be another meeting Saturday night, at which time it is expected all arrangements will be consummated. If the union labor party put a ticket in the field there will be four tickets out.

A PROPOSED BRIDGE.

There has been a good deal of discussion in relation to the construction of a bridge across the gulch that separates East Portland from Albina. It is proposed to extend Goldsmith street in Albina across the slough. No less than twelve streets in that city lead into Goldsmith street. Therefore every point will be accessible to the bridge and give the people a direct highway to the railway bridge. If constructed, very likely the Dekum company will extend their line across this bridge. When an OREGONIAN man was in Albina last Saturday the impression among the people there was that the bridge will be built and that the Dekum company would be willing to stand most of the expense. In speaking of this matter the Albina Courier says: A very important question that has come up before the city council is that of extending Goldsmith street across the gulch to East Portland. In order to do this a right of way must first be obtained through J. B. Montgomery's property in that locality. Captain Foster has already consented to a right of way through his residence property. The street, if extended, will cut off a large portion of Captain Foster's beautiful lawn, but will, in other respects, enhance the value of his property. A bridge will have to be built across the gulch and can be done for about $2000.

AN OVERSIGHT.

When the council passed the street car line ordinances, no provision was made for allowing houses to be moved along or across the track. The street commissioner may issue a permit to move houses, yet under the ordinances the street car companies may stop their being moved across the track, or in any way obstructing the track. This is the view held by some, but the question may be asked if the ordinances repeal the authority for moving houses through the streets, and if not would it not follow that houses can be moved over the tracks on a permit from the street commissioner?

A FINE HIGHWAY.

While the measure to widen Fifth street was not successful, the prospects now for the full improvement may be regarded as being favorable. From what was stated in the council Monday night, it would appear that the property holders are in favor of such an improvement being made. It was not contemplated to improve the street further north than Sullivan's gulch, but there is a movement on foot to continue the improvement to Holladay avenue. This would give an improved street entirely through the city—the only one in the city. It is to be hoped the fine improvement will be made, as it is certainly much needed.

THE REDUCTION WORKS.

The Reduction Works resumed work yesterday morning. It would seem that quite a long run will be made, judging from the amount of stuff that has accumulated about the grounds. There is a vast amount of coke on hand. A pile of scrap tin extends along the railroad for about fifty yards and a flatcar loaded with the same material was received at the works to-day, so there is plenty of scrap on hand. There is considerable ore on hand and more will be received daily.

STREET CAR MATTERS.

The street car line is being extended on Fifth street south to V. It is stated that the track will be laid along U street out to Eleventh shortly, and when the proposed improvement of Eleventh street is completed, it will be laid south on Eleventh to Division street. The bridge company has received some handsome new cars for their line. They are needed already.

NOTES.

It was stated yesterday that a $30,000 real estate sale was consummated. The property is said to be somewhere near Division street.

Thomas G. Davison, contractor, stated last night that he would commence driving piling for the new bridge across the Stephens slough. He cannot start in any too soon for the people south of the slough as the people out there are getting anxious to see the bridge completed.

J. Mosier, while working around the machinery just put in at the Standard box factory for the manufacture of strawberry boxes, had one of his hands badly injured. The end of his thumb was cut off and his hand was considerably crushed. Dr. Saylor was called and dressed the wounds.

There is not much left of the Fifth street bridge. That portion that was left standing in Sullivan's gulch collapsed and fell Monday. So all that is left of that structure now are the approaches. The city is now paying interest on $5000 bonds issued in payment for that bridge. It is enough to make taxpayers howl and gnash their teeth.

A JUBILANT FRUIT CANNER.

Oregon Prospects as Compared With California's Unfortunate Condition.

Mr. C. B. Woodworth, secretary of the Northern Pacific Cannery Company, who has lately been to San Francisco on business connected with the cannery, was met yesterday by a reporter.

He says he succeeded while there in selling a large amount of the goods packed at the cannery. The fruit crop of California will be short this year, especially in white cherries and apricots, while Oregon has the prospect of the largest fruit crop ever known. Everything used by the cannery will be plentiful except strawberries, of which there will be plenty for home consumption, but not enough to bring them within the reach of the cannery.

On his way home he stopped at Ashland. He says it was a glorious sight on coming out of the dry California country to see the luxuriant verdure. Not a bit of verdure is to be seen all the way from San Francisco till the Oregon line is passed. The present is one of the dryest seasons known in California for years. A gentleman at Petaluma said he had lived there seventeen years and he had seen the hills greener in August than they are now. At Ashland the prospects for fruit are excellent, especially peaches and Bartlett pears, the crop of which will be immense.

On account of the difficulty of procuring skilled labor it was feared that the company's cannery would not be run this season, but the chances now are very favorable that it will.

Mr. Woodworth says he is very glad to get back to Oregon. California is as dry as a bone and San Francisco is not the cleanest, most agreeable place he ever saw. He would not have staid there another day for anything. Like everybody else the more he goes away from Oregon, the more pleased he is to get back.

WHAT WAS DONE IN COURT.

A Number of New Suits Begun in the State Circuit.

An Accounting Demanded From Henarie and the Martins—Several Divorce Cases—Minor Litigation Notes.

The following new suits were begun in the state circuit court yesterday:

J. Q. Johnson vs. C. N. Scott, receiver of the Oregonian Railway Company (Ld), for $398 for labor performed by himself and $12 for the services of A. King, who assigned his claim to plaintiff.

D. A. Lewis vs. S. W. Crane, for $1,584 46. The money is alleged to be due on a promissory note for $692 25 made at Roseburg October 21, 1876. Up to July 6, 1882, $110 53 had been paid on the note. The principal and interest have now grown to the amount sued for.

N. Jones sued Jane Jones for a divorce and the custody of their two minor children. They were married in Columbus, Ohio, in 1876. Desertion is the ground alleged.

Mary A Chulfurt sued E. and M. J. Durand for $1882, balance alleged to be due on a promissory note for $2000, made by defendants June 27, 1887.

E. L. Dorn sued D. V. B. Henarie, Thomas S. Martin and Edward Martin for a decree ordering an accounting and requiring defendant Henarie to account for all sums received by him in accordance with an agreement made a few years ago, and to produce a statement of disbursements. He also asks that the court adjudge the amount due Henarie from Edward Martin, and decree that a conveyance of land made to Henarie is a mortgage and was made to secure the payment of a debt. Plaintiff, in conclusion, asks that certain land in Clackamas county be ordered sold to pay off the mortgage. He alleges that the Martins, who were in business in this city under the firm name of E. Martin & Co., being indebted to Henarie to an amount exceeding $25,000, gave him a quit claim deed in consideration of $40,000 which was in truth a mortgage made to secure the debt. April 10, 1883, Thomas S Martin assigned his title and interest in the firm to Edward, who in March, 1886, made a promissory note for $25,000, due in two years, to Henarie.

MINOR COURT NOTES.

MRS. WINTERS ON DECK—DISPOSITION OF DIVORCE AND CIVIL CASES.

Monday Lorenzo Winters appeared in state circuit court No. 2, and asked for the dismissal of his suit for a divorce from his wife, Mary, and his request was granted. Yesterday Mrs. Winters's attorneys filed a motion in the court asking that the order of dismissal be set aside, and that judgment for $50 be entered against Winters to allow her to defend the suit. The grounds set forth are that the court had no jurisdiction in the matter as a demurrer had been filed to the complaint, and is pending.

Thomas B. Wilmerth was granted a divorce from Emma Wilmerth yesterday on the ground of desertion. They were married in the fall of 1886, and in January following, Emma disappeared. She sent her husband a letter, which was introduced in evidence, saying she could not love him.

In the divorce suit of J. V. Hall vs. Delia M. Hall, the defendant has filed an answer to the complaint denying all the allegations set forth therein. She has also filed a cross-bill asking for a divorce and $2000 alimony, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment on the part of her husband.

Judgment by default for $140 for goods sold was rendered by Judge Shattuck yesterday in the suit of Esberg, Bachman & Co., vs. S. Heinsheimer.

The grand jury began its sessions yesterday.

Judge Stearns has appointed A. M. Brown bailiff, and D. C. Bogart, crier of department No. 2, state circuit court.

MORROW COUNTY POLITICS.

A Three-Cornered Fight for Legislator—Wool Men and the Tariff.

Mr. C. A. Rhea, a well-known capitalist of Heppner, was seen at the St. Charles yesterday by a reporter, and in answer to inquiries concerning the prospects of Morrow county, said:

"We have raised a large crop of wool and a full crop of lambs. We have had a dry season, which has been a little rough on spring-sown grain, but on the whole crops are looking tolerably well."

"How is your Heppner railroad prospering?"

"They are grading on the line from Ione to Arlington, twenty-five miles. A large number of men and teams are employed and work is going ahead in good shape. Many farmers and their teams are hired at fair wages."

"How about politics in Morrow county?"

"We have three tickets in the field—republican, democratic and independent. Each has a full ticket. The Lexington people have put out the independent ticket in hope of electing a member to the legislature who will get them another chance to vote on the county seat question. William Penland, owner of the site of Lexington, is their candidate for the legislature. He is a wealthy sheep man and will make a good run. The democrats have a farmer named Howell on the legislative ticket, and as the supporters of the independent ticket are chiefly republicans, the democrats hope to elect their whole ticket. At all events, we have a good prospect for it. Do you think the tariff question will scare away any votes from the democratic ticket?"

"I expect that some of those who reside along the foothills, who are chiefly interested in sheep will vote the republican ticket, but the farmers will not be affected by the tariff question."

"Are you not extensively interested in sheep and wool?"

"I have 10,000 sheep and I raise 90,000 pounds of wool, but I shall not fly the track. I am not one of that kind."

"This talk about free wool has affected the sale of your crop, I suppose."

"Yes, but I intend to hold on to my wool and my sheep. There will be nothing done with the tariff, but wool dealers are taking advantage of the matter to bear the price. A year or two of hard times will greatly reduce the number of sheep, and prices will then come up again."

PLEASANT JOURNALISTIC AMENITIES.

Our friend, the McMinnville Reporter, compliments our literary style by copying word for word our standing campaign offer, substituting of course its own name. It is able even to parallel our statement that ours is the only steam press in the county. The Reporter is a good paper, and shows good taste in its literary selections.—Benton Leader

Thanks, brother, same to you. The article referred to met our idea 'zactly. Whenever you find anything in the Reporter that will save paper and pencil, snatch 'er, my boy, she's yours.—McMinnville Reporter

MORROW COUNTY DEMOCRATS.

The Morrow county democratic nominating convention was held at Heppner May 5, and the following ticket placed in the field: Representative, Lee Howell; sheriff, Thomas Morgan; clerk, Jas. Williams; treasurer, Geo. Noble; surveyor, J. Keathley; assessor, Ed. McGee; commissioners, P. C. Thompson, Jas. Brown.

BAKER COUNTY COAL.

An Old Discovery, Near Auburn, Again Commanding Attention.

Edwin W. Reynolds, of Baker City, writes to THE OREGONIAN as follows, under date of May 7.

"I send herewith a sample of coal, taken from the top of a coal vein, situated in French gulch, near Auburn, about ten miles in an air line from this point. This coal I first discovered in 1864, but, owing to placer mining on the surface, have never been enabled to open it. In 1873 I caused a shaft to be sunk, thirty feet in depth, running down on the main vein. At a depth of thirty feet this vein was two and one-half feet thick, all good coal and much better than the sample sent. There are seven distinct coal veins, lying parallel in blue clay in sand in French gulch. We have sandstone, slate, and all the necessary surroundings, for a coal deposit. The following is an analysis of this coal taken from the croppings, made by Dr. Drown, in Philadelphia, in 1873. 'Moisture, 14 68 per cent.; combined water, 16 22; hydrogen, 2.50, sulphur, 2.08, carbon, 60.72, and ash, 3.80.' This coal, being near the O. R. & N. Co.'s railway, and easy of access, will undoubtedly prove valuable. I invite capital to assist me in development."

The sample above mentioned may be seen at this office by anyone interested in such finds.

NOTICE OF RECEIVER'S SALE—NOTICE IS hereby given that pursuant to a decree of the circuit court of the United States for the district of Oregon, entered April 21, 1888, in a cause therein pending wherein Albert G. Bogert et. al. are plaintiffs and Joseph Holladay, executor, substituted for Ben. Holladay, deceased, et al., are defendants, the undersigned, receiver therein, will offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash, in Portland, Multnomah county, Oregon, at the door of the county court house of said county, at 10 o'clock A. M. of Thursday, May 31, 1888, ten thousand, being all the shares of the capital stock of the Oregon Real Estate Company. The stock will be offered for sale in lots of five hundred shares each, and will be sold to the highest bidders respectively, upon this understanding and condition, to-wit: That after the stock has been bid off in lots as aforesaid the stock will be offered for sale in one lot of ten thousand shares, and will be sold to the highest bidder therefor, in case his bid for the stock as a whole exceeds the aggregate amount of the bids for the stock when offered in lots as aforesaid; but if the bid for the stock as a whole does not exceed the aggregate amount of the bids for the stock when offered in lots as aforesaid, then the stock will be declared sold to the respective bidders for the several lots of stock.

Dated Portland, Oregon, April 24, 1888.

G. G. GAMMANS, Receiver.

The property owned by the Oregon Real Estate Company, and which is represented by the stock of said company to be sold as above set forth, consists principally of about fourteen hundred lots, fifty by one hundred feet each, situated in the choicest residence portion of the city of East Portland. That part of the property adjacent to the eastern terminus of the new iron bridge between Portland and East Portland will soon be desirable for business purposes, while the high level land extending for a mile back from the river offers chances for homes that will be eagerly seized upon when the land is offered for sale in lots and blocks. A year ago three of the leading real estate dealers of Portland appraised this property at over a half million of dollars, and since then it has advanced considerably in value. This stock is to be sold to pay off $350,000 claims against the estate of Ben Holladay. 24a35

HERMANN OR GEARIN?

It will not be asserted by any candid person that Mr Hermann has not been an active and fairly successful representative in congress. It would be useless to deny that he has labored with great assiduity or that he has accomplished about all that could fairly be expected of a representative. During his two terms he has familiarized himself with the duties and learned the opportunities of a member of congress and now he is better equipped for rendering service to his state than any new member could be

No candid person would expect of Mr Gearin better or more efficient service for the state than he would expect of Mr Hermann. On the contrary it is known that a new man is always at some disadvantage The story of the boy, who, though a bright fellow couldn't study his lesson till he 'got the hang of the new school house" fairly illustrates many things that reach beyond the period of boyhood The business house that takes a young man into its service and trains him up in it doesn't dismiss him as soon as he begins to be efficient, just for the sake of going through the same process of teaching another

Looking, then, to the service of the state there is no reason why Mr Gearin should be preferred to Mr Hermann, but, on the contrary, there is reason why Mr Hermann should be preferred to Mr Gearin There remains the political side, the party aspect of the case. If Oregon is a democratic state if a majority of her people wish to commit the state to support of the democratic party with its policy, its history, its traditions, its past character, its present aims and future purposes, then of course Mr Gearin will be elected Otherwise, Hermann will be sent to congress again.

The administration at Washington is forcing the political issue in this canvass in Oregon. Hence no republican can vote for a democrat this year for any political office On this issue republicans are called upon to elect the representative in congress and a majority in the legislature In order to do it they have only to come out and vote and this, since the administration has challenged them it is their duty to do The report from all points is that the spirit of republicans throughout Oregon is higher than it has been at any time during the last twenty years.

A SOLDIER TICKET

The republicans of Illinois have nominated a soldier ticket. Joseph W Fifer, the nominee for governor served for over three years in the ranks of the 33d Illinois Regt On July 13 1863, at Jackson Miss when Sherman's force assaulted the intrenchments of Johnston, young Fifer was pierced through the body with a rifle ball His recovery for some time was considered doubtful and almost impossible but his rugged constitution helped more than anything else to pull him safely out of danger He left his regiment and went to his father's home, where he remained only until he had fully recovered from his terrible wound He then joined his company at the front and fought until the time of his enlistment expired

Fifer was originally a bricklayer, but after the war studied law and to-day stands in the first rank of his profession In March 1886 Hon S H West for two terms minority representative in the legislature from McLean county and one of the ablest democrats in the county, wrote a letter in which he dwelt at length upon Mr Fifer's sterling qualities, and said that he knew of nothing in the life of Lincoln, or Garfield, or any other man, that exhibited such a brave and gallant fight against adverse circumstance as that made by Joe Fifer since the war Like Judge Gresham, whom the convention endorsed as its candidate for president Fifer in the face of poverty and discouragement, has been the architect of his own fortune. Gen C W Pavy the nominee for state auditor, served through the war in the ranks of the Eightieth Illinois infantry and spent twenty-two months in Libby prison while Charles Becker the nominee for state treasurer, served in the Twelfth Missouri infantry and lost a leg at Pea Ridge in March, 1862.

PROTESTED BECAUSE UNFAIR

Tariff reform should begin by putting sugar on the free list No single abuse of protection is comparable to that which the Southern democrats maintain for the protection of their interest in the production of sugar, and out of partisan considerations the Northern democrats consent to this abuse and help to perpetuate it.

While The Oregonian has doubted and still doubts whether our wool growers actually obtain any considerable benefits from protection it has no doubt whatever that our people as a whole are heavily robbed for the benefit of the Southern sugar planter and the Eastern manufacturer The gist of the protest of the present time is not against free wool, but against the sectional and partisan system proposed under the name of tariff reform Sugar ought to be placed on the free list as soon, at least, as wool is and woolen goods should no longer be protected when the duty is taken from wool

Let those who profess to be tariff reformers put sugar and woolens on the free list and they will hear but little objection to free trade in wool The Mills bill is protested not because it proposes to reduce the tariff but because it is grossly unfair It still protects sugar because sugar is solely the product of a democratic constituency and still protects manufactured goods through fear of the loss of the great manufacturing states of New York Connecticut and New Jersey to the democratic party This scheme of partisanship in the name of reform will not be accepted by the country and Oregon will help to repudiate it

GROWTH OF NEW YORK

It is now estimated that the decade 1880-1890 will show an increase of population in the city of New York of 35 per cent and in Brooklyn of 70 per cent. These figures are deduced from the building statistics of the two cities up to 1888 and the present outlook for two years more.

A New York paper says "Our metropolitan district is growing much faster than London, and in time will be the world's greatest city. In 1801 London had 864 035 inhabitants in 1800 the metropolitan district had only 152,236 or less than one-fifth as many In 1881 London had 3 814 571 and the metropolitan district here 2 583 437 or about two thirds as many For eighty years London's average increase has been a little over two per cent a year our metropolitan increase has averaged four and a half per cent At this rate we must soon pass London by in the race"

BADLY 'RATTLED'

The democratic paper at Pendleton published what it supposed a powerful appeal to the people for defeat of the republican party and for success of the democratic party on the allegation that the opening of the Columbia river depended on these results and especially it was urged that Dolph should be given no chance for re-election, because he was "against an open river" To this The Oregonian answered first, that the opening of the river was not and could not be a party question, and second that though it was easy to say that "Dolph was against an open river," yet in fact Dolph had labored early and late and with great success to get large appropriations for the Columbia river into river and harbor bills But Cleveland had killed the last bill by a pocket veto, and now the question was whether he wouldn't kill the next bill (carrying Dolph's appropriations) by similar action. This presentation of the case was a "stumper" for the democratic paper at Pendleton It could only answer that the president was probably justified in refusing to sign the last river and harbor bill,—justified, no doubt on the principle that a democratic president, in the judgment of a loyal organ of the party, can do no wrong, but, after all it declares that "whether Mr Cleveland was right or wrong is not an issue at all" Not an issue, when the question as stated by the Pendleton paper, is whether the river shall be opened or not? Not an issue, when the question is whether Oregon shall be carried for the president who refuses to approve the appropriations passed through congress by the republican delegation from the state? The democratic brother is enmeshing himself fearfully in the tangles of his own logic It would be well for him to haul off from this topic and start on a new one

THE DONNELLY BOOK

Part of the results obtained by the "Donnelly cipher" have been published by The Oregonian Every person possessed of literary judgment must instantly see that the whole is a fabrication The effort to dethrone Shakespeare by such a method will obtain no response but that of contempt from the literary world

Through the use of his alleged cipher Donnelly produces certain statements out of the works of Shakespeare He does this by selection and collocation of words that give the results he wants to produce. Even to ordinary literary insight the whole process is apparent He makes his "cipher" say what he wants it to say about Bacon, Cecil Marlowe and others he makes it describe Shakespeare as an utterly worthless fellow, a man of no capacity or character, "a poor, dull spirited greedy creature," so given to debaucheries that "yet in his youth he is written down old with all the characters of age" Thus the very terms in which some of the characters produced by Shakespeare are delineated are employed by Donnelly to characterize Shakespeare himself A word-picker running over the vast range of the Shakespearean vocabulary, assembles and arranges words and forms them into sentences that give the results he wants regardless of the fact that in the delineation thus obtained of the life and character of Shakespeare he is directly contradicted by the positive testimony of Shakespeare's own contemporaries and intimate friends

Thus Ben Jonson has left in various forms testimony regarding Shakespeare. Jonson was one of the noted men of the Shakespearean age He was a scholar and poet He knew Shakespeare intimately, and was in daily association with him during a long period Jonson's dramas rank next to those of Shakespeare among the productions of the period. And no author ever paid to another higher tribute than Ben Jonson has paid to Shakespeare Likewise Heminge and Condell, who were among Shakespeare's daily associates and who played leading parts in his dramas during many years, bore testimony in their preface to the first collected edition of his works to the marvellous extent variety and readiness of his powers The testimony of witnesses like these establishes the fact of Shakespearean authorship beyond all cavil or controversy Donnelly however alleges that Ben Jonson was privy to Bacon's alleged authorship of the plays The logic of this is that Jonson lied in attributing them to Shakespeare, that he was in this unparalleled literary conspiracy and a part of it, that he falsified history, was an accomplice in a stupendous fraud and died with a poetic amplification of the falsehood upon his lips. And then, after assuming that Ben Jonson was among the most prodigious liars known to fame Donnelly calls him as a witness to prove that Bacon wrote the Shakespeare plays.

But if there were no contemporary testimony the internal evidence afforded by the works would be conclusive against this Baconian theory of which Donnelly is the latest and most absurd exponent The history of Bacon is very fully known We have his acknowledged works, which are very voluminous Every person who possesses even in the least degree, the literary sense perceives at once upon any examination of these works and comparison of them with the works of Shakespeare, that the same type of mind could never have produced both It would not be so absurd to attribute Webster's speeches to Hawthorne or Hawthorne's romances to Webster In Shakespeare there is a good deal that is ordinary and commonplace a good deal that almost any clever playwright might have produced, but the great and characteristic work of those dramas is sui generis Only one man was doing such writing, and only in the Shakespearean drama is such writing found This to persons of literary judgment is the most complete and convincing of all proofs Even without the testimony of Shakespeare's own contemporaries and familiars there would be no appeal from it.

It is evident that Donnelly has performed a great deal of labor upon his book But it is labor of the most useless and fruitless kind He has made a story indeed but so can any other story be made out of Shakespeare or any other author by the like method "It is plain from his method, says a reviewer that he first found the statements that he wanted to find He then hunted (probably in a concordance of Shakspeare) till he found the first word, or some other word, of his proposed phrase By then counting backward or forward up one column and down another or down one column and up another sometimes counting hyphenated words as two and sometimes as one by adding or subtracting at his own sweet will and by other false and transparent devices he collects the words that form his phrase or narrative He does this by no apparent rule while alleging that he has a key to the cipher which he refuses to reveal at last having in view he says the publication of future books which he fears to impair in interest if he divulges the only thing that would make this book of interest or value Here let us fitly exclaim, O most lame and impotent conclusion!"

The general judgment of the Eastern press without distinction of party upon the appointment of Fuller to the chief justiceship is that his reputation was not sufficient to entitle him to the honor Thus the New York World the leading democratic paper of the country says

We do not wish to find fault with the president for his selection nor to unkindly criticise Mr Fuller who is no doubt as good a citizen as his neighbors represent him to be But if it was essential to find a democratic chief justice is there not a democrat on the bench or at the bar of the United States or of any state who is distinguished as a lawyer and a jurist? Was it necessary to take for such an important judicial office in the republic an untried and comparatively unknown man?

The Chicago Herald says that Fuller the new chief justice is "a disciple of Jefferson" This makes Fuller a politician of a past age The only distinctive doctrine of Jefferson was that upon which the Southern states seceded from the Union and organized the rebellion Jeffersonian democracy is synonymous with the Southern Confederacy

Production from the old mines of the Comstock has a good deal increased during a year past and is now up to about a million a month The Hale & Norcross has declared a dividend for the first time since 1871 But whether it will declare another is the question

IN AND ABOUT PORTLAND.

GOT LOST IN A CITY.—Mr. Geo. Evans, who has been under engagement with the Northern Pacific Railroad Company at Tacoma for the past three years, came over a few days ago to receive bids from our local manufacturers for inside work on the company's new building. The first evening he had occasion to return to his room with his brother-in-law, P. E. Brigham, on Nob hill, he was so completely at sea among the elegant and numerous residences in that quarter that he was obliged to make inquiries, and even then experienced much difficulty in finding his home. The circumstance seems all the more amusing from the fact that he is a Tacoma man, and they are supposed not to be lost in any place outside of that great city. Portland is growing, and Mr. Evans must be thoroughly satisfied on that point after three days' stay in the metropolis of the Northwest. Mr. Evans returned to Tacoma last night.

"A. M. AND P. M."—Probably no man or no woman, looking over a time card, to learn what hour a certain place would be reached, and getting tangled up on where the "A. M." figures left off and the "P. M." figures began, failed mentally or orally to express a wish that the confusion might in some way be avoided. Mr. A. L. Maxwell, general passenger agent of the O. R. & N. Co., in his latest "folder" seems to have filled this great desideratum. All figures from noon to midnight are full face, a very black letter, while the figures from midnight to noon are light face, like the type in this item. The change from A. M. to P. M., or vice versa, is seen at a glance in running up or down a column of figures, and "A. M." and "P. M." do not appear once in the whole time card. It would seem that all railroads could adopt this plan without trouble or expense.

FRATERNAL CHRISTIANITY.—Recently Archbishop W. H. Gross, of this city, paid a visit to Union county and was hospitably received. He went to Summerville to lecture, although there are only half a dozen Catholics in the place. One of the first to call on him after his arrival was Rev. Mr. Thompson, pastor of the Methodist church, who invited the archbishop to lecture in the church, the consent of the trustees having been obtained. The invitation was accepted and in the evening Archbishop Gross addressed a large audience on "The Value of the Human Soul." At the conclusion of the services, Archbishop Gross, at the request of the pastor, blessed the congregation. Rev. Father Ahne, who accompanied the archbishop, was tendered the use of the church for lectures or mass, at his pleasure.

REQUEST FOR OREGON CURIOSITIES.—A circular letter has been issued by the Oregon Alpine Club inviting membership and requesting that persons having collections of Oregon curiosities, worthy of being presented, shall not send them East or to Europe, but to give or loan them to the Alpine Club, where they will be preserved and exhibited to the public. Wells, Fargo & Co. will transport free of charge all articles addressed to the Oregon Alpine Club museum. Persons who have collections or curiosities which they would desire to have preserved and to be of some use to the public, will find the club to be the proper organization to which to present them. The Alpine Club is organized for a most worthy object and should receive all the encouragement possible at the hands of the public.

SAVED FROM DROWNING.—Harry Williams, a well-known longshoreman would have been drowned a few days ago but for the timely aid rendered him by D. W. Crowley. Williams was at work unloading a scow at the foot of Pine street, when he fell in. No one saw him fall in or heard his cries for help. Mr. Crowley, who was superintending the unloading of a ship near by, happened to step near the rail and saw Williams struggling in the water. He threw a line, but at once saw the man was too weak to avail himself of it. He then jumped into the river, and, reaching Williams as he was sinking for the last time, seized him by the hair, and after great effort, in which Mr. Crowley himself became much exhausted, they were both rescued.

CENTENNIAL OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.—Rev. J. R. Thompson, D. D., of Vancouver, leaves to-day over the Northern Pacific for Philadelphia, to attend the general assembly of the Presbyterian church which convenes there this month. It will not be an ordinary event. On the 22d inst., there will be a celebration of the centennial of the general assembly of the United States. Synods and presbyteries are more than 100 years old in America, but the first meeting of the general assembly was held on the fourth Tuesday of May, 1788. On the occasion of the centennial anniversary the church south will join with the church north, and one or two smaller bodies in the observance.

THE MYSTIC SHRINE.—A temple of Ancient Arabic Order of the Mystic Shrine, to become members of which only thirty-second degree Masons and Knights Templar are eligible, was instituted here a short time since. It is to be known and hailed as Alkado Temple. The officers are: Grand potentate, I. W. Pratt; chief rabban, R. P. Earhart; assistant rabban, F. N. Shurtleff; high priest, P. S. Malcolm; Oriental guide, D. W. Taylor; recorder, B. G. Whitehouse; treasurer, J. R. Foster. The paraphernalia for the temple, costing about $1000, has partly arrived, and the remainder will soon be here, when the officers will be installed and a number of candidates be initiated.

NEW BUSINESS BUILDINGS.—Mr. J. H. Jones has let the contract for the four story brick which he is about to erect at the northwest corner of Front and Madison streets to Mr. George Brown. City Surveyor Pagett yesterday measured off the ground and set the stakes. The building will be 100x100 feet, four stories high, with a basement extending to the curb. It is not Mr. Jones's intention to fully finish the building at present, as he expects to lease it for storage and a warehouse. The cost of the structure will be about $20,000. Mr. William Connell is preparing to put up a row of stores on the old Manciet property on the corner of First and Clay.

PECULIAR TREATMENT.—A Portland man who has peculiar notions about doctoring for all pains and ills that flesh is heir to, resorts to the starving process as a diet for removing any trouble that may arise, instead of dosing with pills and the like. He professes to abstain from eating for a given period, and gradually reducing the time of abstinence until the ailment is removed. He claims that the starving process, as he calls it, is more effective and certainly more agreeable than taking medicines. Not only does the druggist suffer, but the grocer, baker and butcher are out and injured.

INGRATITUDE.—Officer Emig arrested one "Doc" O'dell at 8:30 o'clock last night on a warrant sworn out by a young fellow named Charles Dragner on a charge of larceny. Monday night Dragner, who is employed at the Willamette Iron Works, met O'dell, who was complaining that he had no money, and did not know where he was going to sleep. Out of compassion Dragner took him to his own room, on G street, between Third and Fourth. When they retired Dragner had some $8 or $9 in his pocket, and yesterday morning, after he awoke, he found "Doc" gone, likewise his money.

STEAMERS LAID UP.—The Riparia correspondent of the Columbia Chronicle sends the following: The steamers Almota and Annie Faxon are now laid up and crews discharged owing to the low prices of wheat. The shippers decline to ship at present, consequently the company can't afford to keep crews and have nothing for them to do. Some man will want to ship a hundred sacks of wheat, and then a howl will go up against the company for not keeping boats running, and a committee will be appointed to interview Mr. Hunt to induce him to build a road to Lewiston.

PROMOTION.—Mr. A. Noltner at present U. S. weigher and gauger, was made happy yesterday by the receipt of several telegrams from Washington informing him that he had been appointed post office inspector for the district in the place of the late Geo. Mason. This office is somewhat more lucrative than that of weigher and gauger, the salary of which is $4 per day, while the salary of post-office inspector is $1600 per year and an allowance of $4 per day in addition when traveling on post-office business.

ANOTHER "FOLDER."—Mr. A. L. Maxwell, general passenger and ticket agent of the O. R. & N. Co., has just issued a 12-page "folder," which well supplements the immigration board's similar document. Nine pages are devoted to Portland, the state and eastern Washington, six pages to an excellent map, and four pages to a complete time card, including freight trains. Altogether it is a useful thing, at home and abroad.

ENTERTAINED.—At the close of the exercises at the Tabernacle Monday evening, several grand officers of the A. O. U. W. invited Mr. Jordan, supreme master, to the Magnolia restaurant, where an excellent collation was served, on which occasion several gentlemen spoke on matters pertaining to the order. Those present were: E. L. Smith of Hood river, Hon. W. D. Hare of Hillsboro, T. A. Stephens, G. H. Durham, A. J. Marshall, F. H. Stolte, R. L. Durham, C. K. Stevens, Dr. James Browne and G. T. Brown.

Miss Lettie Lyons, an Oysterville school teacher, has purchased an oyster bed and is now planting several baskets of young oysters therein. As far as our experience with school ma'ams go, they are all pretty good at "planting" oysters as long as some one could be found to do the purchasing.—Astoria Pioneer.

A letter from Cle-Elum, W. T., says that a man supposed to be a "spotter" was soundly thrashed there the other day. A conductor had just been discharged and an insurance man charged the fellow, who was supposed to be the cause, with being a "spotter." The latter replied in opprobrious terms, whereupon the insurance man set upon him, knocked out several teeth and handled him roughly.

The funeral of the late Miss Hannah M. Connell took place from her father's home, corner of West Park and Taylor streets, yesterday afternoon, Rev. Alfred Kummer, pastor of Taylor street M. E. church, officiating. The following gentlemen acted as pallbearers: Arthur Keinath, A. M. Smith, Jr., Frank Churchill, Fred Watkins, F. A. Kenny, F. O. Northrup, Thomas Honeyman and George Collins. Interment was made in Lone Fir cemetery.

OPERATING DAY AND NIGHT.

While many are disposed to think business is quiet at this season there seems to be an unusual run of trade at the Anderson Lithographic, Printing and Binding establishment. A representative of THE OREGONIAN, who called yesterday, was astonished to learn that the force has been increased to forty persons in order to enable the firm to get out the vast amount of orders in hand, and a night run is in consequence found necessary to accomplish the work more expeditiously. Of the extensive jobs in press is the annual catalogue of Staver & Walker, whose work is never done by halves. For this year's catalogue a carload of paper was necessary to print the issue. It will be a model of the printer's art from cover to cover. Allan C. Mason has a large order under way an elegant publication, giving a compendium of his business, at the same time advancing the interests of Tacoma. This gentleman is having a large new map of Tacoma lithographed. The second number of the "A B C, of Portland," will go to press in a short time. No. 1 is now in the hands of people East and in California. Gen. Tannatt's "Eastern Washington Territory," a valuable document, is ready for delivery. Frank Bros' mammoth catalogue has been completed and this too indicates that the heaviest work can be accomplished at Anderson's. The amount of book, corporation and commercial work seems to be unlimited. From all appearances the lithographing and printing of the Northwest is coming to Portland and the fact that double turns are in vogue, plainly shows that the Anderson Lithographing, Printing and Binding establishment has more than it can do on day runs.

AIDING THEIR OWN PARTY.

Professed Democratic Prohibitionists Putting Republicans Forward in the Campaign.

"What have you observed about the present campaign?" asked an OREGONIAN reporter yesterday of Hon. Rufus Mallory, who had just returned from speech-making up the valley.

"I may say," was the answer, "that I have never observed a time when republicans were more anxious to have their party succeed. The party is well united. I can't recall the time when there was so much harmony and unity of purpose. All seem to realize the importance of saving the United States senate. I have failed to observe the least sign of dissatisfaction, except among the few republicans who have gone off on the prohibition idea. Their is a studied effort among the democrats, who are assuming to be in harmony with the prohibitionists, to draw as many republicans as possible into prominence.

"This was demonstrated at Hillsboro at a meeting to choose delegates to the county prohibition convention. There was a preacher in the meeting who had formerly acted with the democracy, and he was very forward in the matter of conducting business. He left no opportunity for anybody else to make a speech or nominate a delegate. He was always on his feet first, and as a result nearly every one of the delegates was a republican.

"I had been told of this before I spoke at Hillsboro last night; so I took the opportunity to address myself to such of my audience as felt inclined to wander off towards prohibition, and without mentioning names I referred somewhat severely to the action of professed prohibitionists of democratic persuasion who were using every effort to defeat the republican party. After the meeting closed several of my friends congratulated me in the customary way, and one gentleman remarked: 'I tell you it tickled me when you hit him.'

"Hit whom?" I asked in surprise.

"And then they told me that the democratic preacher, who had been so officious at the prohibition meeting, had been sitting on the front seat all evening."

THE NARROW GAUGE LEASE.

Speculation as to the Result of a Decision Expected in a Few Days.

The case of the Oregonian Railway Company against the O. R. & N. Co. to compel them to comply with the terms of the agreement, whereby they leased the lines of the plaintiff for ninety-nine years, was heard in the supreme court of the United States a few days since, and it is expected that a decision will be rendered next Monday. The result is awaited with much interest by the people of the Willamette valley, and many speculations are indulged in as to what will be the effect of a verdict for either party.

If the O. R. & N. Co. is obliged to comply with the terms of the lease, they will probably have to pay the rents and expenses in arrears, amounting to about a million dollars. And it is generally supposed they will place the lines in good condition and make a vigorous effort to secure their share of the traffic of the valley, and will also probably extend the lines.

Should the lease be declared invalid and the roads be thrown back into the hands of Scotch stockholders, it is not easy to say what the result will be. It is supposed that they will continue to operate the roads, although they will not feel like expending much money on them till such time as they can sell or lease them, in which case they will probably fall into the hands of the Southern Pacific Company. Of course this is all mere speculation, but the matter is one of great importance, and many are making calculations as to the result.

Purchase your tickets and reserve your sleeping car accommodation at No. 2 Washington street, office Northern Pacific Railroad.

THE OLD MAIL CARRIER.

By Thomas P. Montfort, Author of "A Western Picture."

[Copyrighted 1888, by the Author]

"Seems queer thet ther mail ain't in yit," remarked Rube Hutchins, as he peered out of the door of the little building at the Cross Roads, which answered the purposes of postoffice and general merchandise store, and which in connection with old Blakeley's blacksmith shop made up the business portion of the town

"'Pears like old Ike is gittin' slower an' slower every week," Rube continued, after a long look down the narrow lane leading from the direction of the county seat, and satisfying himself that old Ike, the mail carrier, was nowhere in sight

"Yes, an' it's er shame,' old man Bentley remarked, "thet ther government don't put somebody to carryin' uv ther mail who kin git here on time with it It s an hour late now, an it's bin thet way fer ther last month "

"The roads air in er bad fix, boys, ez ye all know, an' it's hardly fair ter expect Ike ter git in on time," said Col Dodson, the Cross Roads postmaster and storekeeper "It's erbout all er feller kin do now ter git erlong at all, an' it s'prises me that old Ike gits here ez soon ez he does "

"But it's bin this way," objected Dan Hawkins, "when the roads wus good, an' they wa'n't no 'scuse fer it then If they's anything in the world I do detest, it s ter hev the mails delayed, an' 'specially when I'm expectin' uv important letters "

"That's my fix," said Ben Hobbs, "an' I think they orter be a change uv carriers Old Ike is gettin' too slow, an' a younger man orter be put in his place "

"It's a little inconvenient, I know," the postmaster said, in a conciliating tone, "but old Ike's bin carryin' uv ther mail for twenty-five years, an' he's alles bin hones' an' accommodatin', an' now, when he's old, I feel like ez if we orter kin' uv look over him if he is sorter slow "

"I don't think so," said Rube "Jest 'cause a feller's bin hones', which he orter be, an' sorter 'commerdatin', it don't signify thet the whole neighborhood orter be put out a-waitin' for ther mail ever' week Ef old Ike can't git here on time let 'im quit an' giv' ther job ter sumbuddy whut kin For my part, I think it's time we wus hevin' uv er change, an' I'll sign er petition to thet effeck "

The rest of the seven or eight men who were present agreed with Rube and signified their willingness to sign the petition asking for Ike's removal The postmaster tried as best he could to argue Ike's cause but the men refused to listen, and accordingly it was decided to get up the petition at once

"Jake, you've teached school and bein' squire, an' know all about sich things," said Rube, "'spose you draw up the artikel Aint none uv the rest uv us knows anything erbout law "

Jake Hopkins came forward, and after several moments of close application with pencil and paper produced the following

"To whom it May concern, know All men by those presents, whereas Ike Warren is gettin' old an' unfit For carryin' uv ther mails atwixt the county Seat An Rocky Knob an' whereas Ther mails has bin late neerly Ever week,

Resolved, That we ther undersigned patrons uv ther Office respectfully ax fer er change an' deman' thet Ike be removed an' a younger man Be Put in his place "

The petition was read and pronounced correct, after which they all signed it except the postmaster "No, I won't sign it, boys," he said when urged to do so "I s'pose I git es much mail es any o' you, an' mebby more but it ain t no great inconvenience ter me if ther mail is er little late, an' besides I know old Ike is poor an' his wife's sick, and he hain't got nothin' ter depend on 'ceptin' ther little pay he gits for carryin' ther mail I don't feel like es if I orter sign that paper "

"I sympathize with Ike," Jake replied, "es much es anybody kin, but I don't see no sense in ther government payin' a man $16 a month fer carryin' the mail unless he s able ter git here without bein' allus late "

While the little group at the Cross Roads were engaged in getting up a petition to have Ike removed the feeble old carrier was patiently trudging along the muddy roads, making such time as his frail limbs were capable of doing For twenty five years he had carried the little weekly mail up to the Roads, and whether the weather had been fair or foul, he had never failed to make the trip, though sometimes he was a little late He had gone when the sky was clear and the earth fair, and when the air was laden with the rich perfume of the wild roses and the clover blossoms and the birds cheered his weary steps with sweet carols from the forest trees along the wayside He had gone, too, when the clouds hung low and dark, and the cold winter blasts swept the dry snow in blinding storms around him

As the postmaster said, old Ike had been honest and accommodating, and when he some days arrived at the Cross Roads a few minutes or an hour late, no one regretted it more than himself Often the way had seemed long and the mail pouch heavy, and sometimes he had felt that he must sit down by the roadside to rest his aching limbs But he knew the people would be waiting, and he could not stop to rest lest he be late

But to-day as he tramps wearily along narrow lanes he is bearing a burden on his heart that is much heavier than the mail pouch on his shoulder So great is the weight of the of the one that he forgets the pressure of the other, and when at last he reaches his journey's end and deposits the pouch on the old counter back of the little delivery, he sinks down in a chair and his head drops on his breast

The bystanders gather around, and even the postmaster, forgetting the mail, comes around to see what is the matter They take him up and lay him on the counter, and the thin lips move and the dim eyes glance from face to face and a feeble smile passes over his features

"Git some water," Rube commands at the same time holding the old carrier s head in his arms "He's fainted, I guess A little cold water will bring him around again "

After a time the sufferer began to revive a little, when he started up, exclaiming

"Is she here? Tilda, I mean Didn t you see her?"

"He's tired out,' the postmaster said

"Did you come for me, Tilda?" old Ike continued "I coming d'rectly I'm a little late to-day, but the roads are so bad and the wind is so cold I would like to sit down here and rest, but the people will be waiting up at the Roads for the mail an' I mus'n't keep 'em waitin' no more n I kin he'p The pouch is so heavy and the hills is so long an' so steep But I'll soon be there an' then I'll come home, 'Tilda, I'll come home "

Then he lay back and closed his eyes and was very still for several minutes Again rousing up, he said

"I hated to go this morning, 'Tilda, and leave you, but you know this is the day to carry the mail up to the Cross Roads, and the people will be there expecting it, and I can't disappoint them I've never missed a day in twenty-five years, an' I mus'n't miss this time I'll come home early for though the roads is bad an' the walkin' tiresome, I'll hurry as fast as I kin an git home soon "

"We'd better get the doctor, hadn't we? ' asked Jake Hopkins, "fer I feel 'sif Ike's in er bad way "

"Yes, we'd better hev ther doctor," the postmaster replied "I dunno nothin' erbout sickness, but I wouldn't be s'prised if he was pooty bad off "

The doctor came after a time, felt the old carrier's pulse, looked at his tongue, and shook his head.

"Is he bad?" Rube inquired

"Yes, he'll die."

"I'm a comin', Tilda The Roads is in sight now, an' they's only one more hill ter climb. I'm tired, an' the mail's heavy, but I'll hurry es fast es I kin, an' I'll soon be home The people is a waiting up to the office fer ther mail, an' I'm a little late, but I'll soon be there I ortent a gone to-day, fer you wus sick an' the roads wus bad, but the people would a bin disappointed ef I hadn't I'll be home soon I'm neerly up to the top o' the hill now," he continued as a smile came over his features, "an' the lane is smooth an' dry The mud is all gone, an' the winds has quit blowin', an' the sun is shinin' so bright an' fair The air is full o' the scent o' wild roses and clover blossoms, an' the birds are singin' so merrily down in the forest I hear singin', too, an' some o' the sweetest music I ever heard I'd like to sit down here in the shade an' rest by the babblin brook while the cool breezes fan my heated brow an' cheek, but I can't today, for I'm a little late, an' the people will be waitin' for me at the Roads "

For a little while the carrier lay still, with his eyes closed and his hands folded, while a smile of sweet contentment spread over his wasted and weather beaten face Then his lips moved, and in words heard only by Rube and the postmaster who bent over him, he muttered

"I'm comin', 'Tilda The road is dry now, an' I don't feel tired at all The mail is in at the Roads, an' I m comin'—home—to—my—dear—wife—my—'Tilda."

Gently they laid the aged head back on the counter, and as gently closed the eyes that were forever shut to the scenes of earth

The old carrier had brought the mails for the last time He was done with the muddy roads and the storms, and had gone beyond to join his faithful 'Tilda who had preceded him but a few hours before

Jake Hopkins took the petition he had written asking for Ike's removal from his pocket, and twisting it up, he looked at the others, and they as if comprehending his meaning, nodded assent, when the stove door was gently opened and the petition cast into the flames Not a word was spoken, but as the men received their mail and departed from the room, not one of them but felt a pang of regret for having signed his name to the paper asking for the removal of old Ike, the faithful carrier, whose last work on earth was in the line of his duty

SPOKANE FALLS W T, May 5

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In all that has been written in the news papers and magazines on the tariff reduction question and in all that has been and is being said in congress on the same subject I have not seen anywhere the suggestion that perhaps the whole question could be settled (except for the irreconcilable free traders) by spending our surplus revenue instead of reducing it, hoarding it up or buying bonds at 26 per cent. premium as is now being done It seems to be assumed by republicans and democrats alike that the revenue needs reducing the only question being as to the best method by which this reduction can be accomplished But can it be denied that a very large portion if not all the surplus could be judiciously and advantageously disposed of in public works and improvements that the country absolutely needs and that, in many cases ordinary prudence demands? Samuel J Tilden and Mr Blaine alike have called attention to the need of adequate coast defenses From Maine to Florida along the Gulf and up the Pacific coast we have not a single fort that could protect our cities from bombardment by either the English French or Italian navies We all republicans and democrats alike know this and freely acknowledge that it is a national danger yet neither party is brave enough to take the initiative in advocating a strong coast defense policy If the republicans would place such a plank in their platform and live up to it they could enforce their position with democratic thunder in the shape of Tilden s letter on the subject and it would be hard for their opponents to attack them without at the same time attacking the great democratic sage and saint who has so lately passed away

There is a great cry about extending our foreign commerce and we are told that free trade will at once accomplish this By all means let us extend our commerce every American will say amen to this suggestion but many of us doubt the efficacy of free trade as a regenerator of our defunct shipping interests England whose example is daily cited by the advocates of free trade, did not rely exclusively on this panacea to build up her merchant marine, she spent millions in subsidizing ocean lines to foreign countries and the colonies and the English merchant could consequently obtain transportation rates for his exports that enabled him to lay down his goods at the door of his foreign customer at figures that defied competition This is the secret of his business success far more than any free trade policy Our government on the contrary has never done much of late years at least in this direction But wherever the policy was tried (with Brazil and on the Pacific for instance) it has always produced the most satisfactory results Let us spend a few of our surplus millions in this direction, and wipe out the disgrace of having even our mails carried in foreign bottoms as at present

And then what pittances we are spending for river and harbor improvements compared to what we should expend Not to speak of the Atlantic coast or the Mississippi valley here in Washington and Oregon what work is not needed on the Sound and the Columbia and its tributaries to make them the great waterways that they should be? The interests of the farmers as much as those of the merchants demand that these improvements should be made and at once Good waterways prevent railroad monopolies and insure low transportation rates

Public buildings owned by the government and sufficiently commodious to allow of its business being properly transacted are needed all over the land but nowhere more than in the Northwest, the rapid development of which seems to be little understood or appreciated by the sages at Washington

There is room for wise expenditures of public moneys in nearly all the departments of the government especially in the post office which in the West Postmaster General Dickin on to the contrary notwithstanding is simply villainous

Supplementing our coast defenses and the extension of our commerce is the need for a navy worthy of a nation like ours Not a few dispatch boats but men of war that can enforce respect for our government and protect our merchant marine when the need arises The building of a government telegraph system is al o an idea that possibly might deserve to be undertaken by the government

All these projects and the leaders of both parties as well as their platforms have at one time or another endorsed them would enable us to spend our surplus wisely and advantageously They would give work to millions they would build up our iron shipping and other industries and would draw enough men from agricultural pursuits to leave more money and better markets for the farmers that remained at the plow Wheat would not be 43 cents and even less per bushel as it is now at many points, because of its over production and the farmer would get the higher price cheerfully, because where work and money are plenty people do not complain of hard times

This is a better plan than paying off a debt that nobody feels, and creditors who don t want their money It would be practically borrowing money under government auspices from the rich for the poor at three per cent and allowing the former to pay for it in labor This is just what the Knights of Labor and other similar organizations have been clamoring for A policy of this kind means good times and plenty for all It means happy homes for the laborer and mechanic good markets for the farmer and a reasonable return on his money to the capitalist and manufacturer More than this, it means permanent success for the party that has the courage to advocate and carry it through.

A Valuable Dead Chinaman

Spokane Review During the time of the construction of the Northern Pacific railroad through this city several Chinamen were killed by an unexpected explosion They were buried near the track and the bodies have been permitted to remain there until May 1st when Dr Campbell health officer issued an order for their removal As the friends of the deceased were preparing the bones for shipment to China considerable interest was taken by by standers who happened to be in that vicinity As one body was taken from its box twenty dollar gold pieces began to drop from a decomposed belt about the waist Six twenties one ten and one five dollar piece besides about three hundred dollars worth of gold dust was the amount found It was evident from appearances that this body was fearfully mangled and hence it is supposed that owing to superstitions of their race the Chinamen did not dare touch this body in its mangled condition lest some evil should befall them

The Case of Agent Eells

Tacoma Ledger Peter Stamp who was a witness before the senate committee which investigated the charges filed by Delegate Voorhees against Mr Eells, has returned from Washington Among the witnesses for the prosecution were James Wickersham and French The witnesses to refute the charges were A R Campbell and Richard Bradley formerly employes of the agency and three Indians, Peter Stamp Thomas Lane and James Coats Senator Dawes is chairman of the committee that conducted the investigation The Voorhees, both father and son, appeared before the committee to urge the case against Mr Eells The case was opened by the senator and closed by the delegate. That the effort to defeat the confirmation of Mr Eells was simply an instance of democratic civil service reform that is to say, a grab for office, is evident from the interest taken in the matter by Senator Voorhees who has never faltered in his loyalty to the spoils system The democrats want the Puyallup Indian agency for the money there is in it, and this is the meat in the cocoanut James Wickersham who supported Voorhees for delegate, was the most active agent in the attempt to find a vacancy for Voorhees to fill Senator Voorhees representing the great state of Indiana in the United States senate was not so much occupied with public business that he could not take time to join Charley in throwing mud Secretary Vilas recommended the appointment of Eells and says that he will stand by him until the appointment is confirmed A futile attempt was made to induce the president to withdraw his name Both the president and secretary are said to be convinced that Mr Eells is an honest and competent official

An Indian Suing for Divorce

Olympia has been full of Indians during the last two days who are extremely interested in a divorce suit which has been brought in the district court by a buck of the Skokomish tribe Until a few years ago an Indian man was allowed to live with as many klootchmen as he desired but was not required to marry any of them The department at Washington hearing of this, instructed Agent Eels to put a stop to it and to require each man living thus to select one woman to whom he should be legally married and to discard the others The plaintiff in the present case was living with two sisters at the time the above order was issued and he being a man of about 50 years very readily discarded the older and married the younger sister who was not yet 20 The young squaw however soon became tired of her aged lover and as his complaint alleges she refuses to clean his fish cook his victuals or wash his clothes and it is his wish to obtain a divorce from her so he may be able to marry and live happily with her older sister He has the sympathy of his tribe nearly all of whom accompanied him to Olympia to attest the truth of his allegations

A New Indian Religion

The Indians of the Squakson Nisqually, Chehalis and Skokomish tribes are indignant at Agent Eells for refusing to allow them to worship their 'Sahale Tyee according to a plan which has recently come into vogue among them They have made known their grievance to Gen R H Milroy ex Indian agent for this district whom they deem as their great protector and friend and have requested him to secure them the privilege of worshiping as they see fit

Their religion is of recent origin and it is said by those who are acquainted with the tribe adopting it that superstitious and ridiculous as the belief is it has seemed to be prolific of much good among them, probably owing to the fright with which it inspires them, and not from any sense of right or a desire to please their "Sahale Tyee They style their new belief the Slocum Tumtum "it having originated with one of the Squakson tribe named John Slocum Some time ago John claimed to have been favored with a revelation from the happy hunting ground" in which it was revealed to him that any Indian desiring to participate in the festivities of the 'sahale illahe" must lead a purely upright life it being necessary for such Indian to abstain from all gambling, drinking, swearing etc The announcement of this alleged revelation by Slocum has made him so prominent a personage among his dusky believers that he is now regarded with much more reverence than the 'Hyas Tyee," of whom he claims to be an apostle

Their mode of worship is in some respects similar to that practiced by the Quakers years ago each one speaking or acting as the spirit moves him The result is frequently very ludicrous to an unbelieving spectator

Before beginning a meeting they always select a leader whose duty it is to go into a trance When in this state the leader's influence over his believing auditors seems to be without limit. The meetings usually last several hours, being terminated when the leader's trance is at an end

This wild belief and practice has occupied the attention of Agent Eells for some time who has at last interfered and announced that the new religion must be abolished This has led to a general remonstrance from the disciples of the Slocum Tumtum who desire to continue their mode of worship

FROM HEPPNER

The Efficient Postal Service—Gearin Stands no Chance of a Majority in Eastern Oregon.

HEPPNER May 3

THE OREGONIAN of the 2d gives an account of a letter reaching Tacoma after something over 130 days having traveled in that time about fifty miles This is of course only an exceptional case, but let me tell you of an every day occurrence which I believe beats the other all hollow

The Dairyville postoffice is just twenty seven miles from Monument postoffice on one of the great thoroughfares of Grant and Morrow counties There is a stock firm who do a great deal of business there one of the partners living near Dairyville and the other at Monument To send a letter from one postoffice to the other (twenty seven miles) it has to travel in the following way by order of our fine postoffice department

	Miles
Leaves Monument Friday for Long Creek	21
Leaves Long Creek Saturday for Canyon City	35
Leaves Canyon Monday for Baker City	85
Leaves Baker Tuesday for Arlington about	175
Leaves Arlington Wednesday for Heppner	46
Leaves Heppner Friday for Dairyville	18
Total 8 days	379

So you will see how efficient our postal department is and the people are so thankful that both Grant and Morrow counties will give the democratic candidates a big majority to stay at home

The wool tariff is another fine thing for the democrats to work upon here in Eastern Oregon If anybody tells you Gearin will get a majority in Eastern Oregon tell them they are talking nonsense or don t know what they are talking about for I have good cause to know

' I am and have been a democrat for over twenty years and shall vote that ticket this time for Gearin suits me but he has no show in Eastern Oregon Good old democrats the old stand by wheelers are lecturing and arguing and working against him with all their might As I said before I am sorry for Gearin for I like him but if he depends on Eastern Oregon for a majority he is a goner

Property in Heppner has taken a boom since the railroad has started to come here To-day A Hirschberg & Co bought a piece of property for $2500 which sold just a year ago for $1600 and everybody thinks they got a big bargain

The U S Supreme Court

When the supreme court was first established in 1789 it was composed of a chief justice and four associates but before the opening session of the court which was held in 1790 an additional associate justice was appointed In 1807 the number was increased one more and thirty years afterwards two other members were added to the bench, and it remained so until 1863 when Stephen J Field was made the ninth associate When Justice Catron died in 1865 no appointment was made in his place and the same course was followed when Justice Wayne died in 1867 This left the court to consist of seven associates with the chief justice but in 1870 congress provided for the appointment of an additional member of the court and definitely settled the number of associate justices at eight, and this regulation yet continues

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
THE WORLD-FAMED LIVER, BLOOD AND LUNG REMEDY.
WHAT AILS YOU?

[COPYRIGHT, 1887]

Are You Sick?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally, experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY acts powerfully upon the Liver and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. SALT-RHEUM AND RHEUMATISM. "COLUMBUS, OHIO, Aug 18th, 1887 WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N Y Gentlemen—For several years I have felt it to be my duty to give to you the facts in relation to the complete cure of a most aggravated case of salt-rheum, by the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' An elderly lady relative of mine had been a great sufferer from salt-rheum for upwards of forty years. The disease was most distressing in her hands, causing the skin to crack open on the inside of the fingers at the joints and between the fingers. She was obliged to protect the raw places by means of adhesive plasters, salves, ointments and bandages, and during the winter months had to have her hands dressed daily The pain was quite severe at times and her general health was badly affected, paving the way for other diseases to creep in. Catarrh and rheumatism caused a great deal of suffering in addition to the salt-rheum. She had used faithfully and with the most commendable perseverance, all the remedies prescribed by her physicians, but without obtaining relief She afterwards began treating herself by drinking teas made from blood purifying roots and herbs She continued this for several years but derived no benefit Finally, about ten years ago I chanced to read one of Dr Pierce s small pamphlets setting forth the merits of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and other medicines The name struck my fancy, and seeing that it was essentially a blood-medicine, I immediately recommended it to the old lady who had been so long a sufferer from salt-rheum She commenced taking it at once, and took one bottle, but seemed to be no better. Knowing ... that it would take time for any medicine to effect a ... better, and encouraged her to continue. She then took half-a-dozen bottles, and before these had all been used ... to notice an improvement. After taking about a ... was entirely cured. CONSUMPTION, WEAK LUNGS, SPITTING OF BLOOD

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY cures Consumption (which is Scrofula of the Lungs) by its wonderful blood-purifying, invigorating and nutritive properties. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE,' but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Severe Coughs, Asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy While it promptly cures the ... Coughs it strengthens the ... and purifies the blood.

One of our children had the pneumonia, and one lung became consolidated but by the use of the 'Discovery' she has entirely recovered, and is now in good health.'

CONSUMPTION. SOLOMON BUTTS, of North Clayton Miami Co Ohio writes I have not the words to express my gratitude for the good your 'Golden Medical Discovery has done my wife She was taken with consumption, and after trying one doctor after another I finally gave up all hope of relief Being very poor and having but one dollar in the world, I prayed to God that he might show me something, and then it seems as though something did tell me to get your 'Golden Medical Discovery My wife took it as directed, and as a result she is so she can work now "

GAINED 25 POUNDS. Wasting Disease.—WATSON F CLARKE, Esq, of (Box 104) Summerside, Prince Edward Island, Can., writes ' I would like to give you a slight testimonial for the benefits which I have received from your preparations during the past twelve months When I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery' I did so at the solicitation of J A Gormlie, druggist, of this place He had sold me many other preparations, always recommending your 'Discovery which I did not take, owing to prejudice However I finally took his advice and your medicine, and have never been sorry for either as I am to-day a healthy man, while one year ago I was not able to work and was a burden to myself At that time I weighed 122 pounds, and to-day I weigh 147 pounds Then I used to eat about one meal a day and now can eat four or five if I dared to After all these benefits, how can I refrain from adding my testimonial, unsolicited, to the thousands already in your possession Chest Disease.—E B NORMAN Esq of Anon, Georgia says "I think the 'Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine for pain in the chest that I have ever known, I am sound and well, and I owe it all to the 'Discovery

WORTH $1000 A BOTTLE. W B DAVIS, Esq, of Bellville, Florida., writes "I have taken your wonderful 'Golden Medical Discovery' and have been cured of the worst case of consumption I am now sound and well, and have only spent three dollars, and I would not take three thousand dollars and be put back where I was I am endeavoring to have all my neighbors keep your remedies in the house."

PROHIBITION MATTERS.

An Active Canvass Engaged In by Prof. Miller and Elder J. W. Webb.

Benton county prohibitionists have put a ticket in the field, and Baker and Umatilla counties are moving in the same direction.

Headquarters of the prohibition state central committee, with a secretary giving all his time to the office, is established at room 10, Labbe's building, Portland.

The Clackamas county prohibition convention is to meet at Oregon City at 10 A. M. on Thursday, the 10th inst. Prof. G. M. Miller, the prohibition nominee, will discuss the issues of the day with Hon. J. M. Gearin, democratic nominee, and Gov. Pennoyer, at 2 P. M., at the same place.

Elder J. W. Webb, of Salem, delivered prohibition party speeches to large audiences in Forest Grove public hall and in the court house at Hillsboro, last week, and preached in the Christian church on Sunday. The county convention is to be held at the latter place Saturday, May 12th, to nominate candidates.

Prof. Miller, one of the nine delegates to the national convention which meets at Indianapolis May 30th, will leave about the 25th, after the joint discussion with Hon. J. M. Gearin at East Portland. The California delegation have chartered cars clear through to the convention and are going through "with waving flags and banners flying," via Salt Lake City and Denver.

A DRUMMER ON PORTLAND.

The Helena Independent publishes the following from the talk of L. Greentree, of Spokane Falls: A drummer's life is not a pleasant one. I am an old drummer. I have been on the road thirty-five years, shipping shirts from town to town, and I have stopped at some pretty mean hotels; not in your town, because the hotels here are one of the best features of the place, but particularly in Portland, Oregon. That is a funny town; it has more rich men than any town of its size on the coast and they are the furtherest behind in all kinds of enterprise. It is almost impossible to get a piece of land in the place; held on to by the old-fashioned element, who are very rich and very sedate. Why they have been for years trying to get a decent hotel there and they haven't been able to do it, waiting for eastern capital to come in and build it. I tell you they are driving all the trade away to Seattle and Tacoma, which towns are growing fat off them. I only tell you what I know. A traveling man sees sights in his spins around the country, and he learns a thing or two.

CORVALLIS CITY ELECTION.

CORVALLIS, May 8.

At the city election held here yesterday the following officers were elected: Mayor, J. B. Lee (R.); alderman First ward, J. O. Wilson (R.); alderman Second ward, B. R. Job (D.); alderman Third ward, J. R. Bryson (R.); marshal, James Dunn (R.); treasurer, Johnson Porter (D.); recorder, W. St. Clair (D.).

The "Exposition Universelle de l'Art Culinaire" awarded the highest honors to Angostura Bitters as the most efficacious stimulant to excite the appetite and to keep the digestive organs in good order. Following is the full text of the resolutions passed by the Evangelical conference Monday afternoon:

The committee on education reported as follows: —The proper religious training of our children is without doubt the first and most important duty of the church. Christ said, "Feed my lambs." The family is the first and most important school in which the children must receive instruction; and without a holy and consecrated family life this cannot be successfully accomplished. We rejoice in the zeal so generally manifested among our people, and we hope it may continually increase. The catechetical instruction on the part of our ministry can hardly be overestimated, and we earnestly recommend it; no other method of instruction is so well adapted to teach the fundamental principles of our Christian religion, and impress it systematically upon the minds and hearts of the children.

WHEREAS, The future prosperity of the church depends in a great measure upon the moral and intellectual culture of the rising generation; therefore,

Resolved, That we will use our energies to promote and encourage Sunday school work, and do all we can for the moral, mental and religious culture of the young people.

Resolved, That the pastors of the different churches shall consider it their duty to find out what kind of literature is being read in our families, recommend to them good books and newspapers, and in a general way interest themselves, and cause parents and teachers to interest themselves in placing into the hands of our young people literature of an unquestionable character, and that we, as ministers of the gospel, improve every opportunity to bring about the true education of the youths of our schools and homes.

Resolved further, That as our societies have a goodly number of young people, and where it is considered practicable, we will organize literary reading circles for the intellectual improvement of our young people.

Resolved, That as soon as practicable we take steps toward establishing an institution of learning within the bounds of the Oregon conferance.

The committee on Sunday observance and temperance submitted the following report:

> Intemperance, like a raging flood,
> Is sweeping o'er the land.
> Its dire effects, in tears and blood,
> Are spent on every hand.

We, in viewing the efforts made in the past to suppress the colossal evil of intemperance are fully satisfied that the liquor traffic can only be terminated on the line of prohibition,

Resolved, First, that we gratefully recognize the steady growth of temperance principles and sentiment; second, that we review with pleasure the emphatic testimony of the annual conferences of our church against the iniquitous traffic in all intoxicating beverages; third, that we would urge increased attention to the inculcation of the principles of total abstinence as taught in the word of God, and directed in our excellent church discipline; and, further, that we enforce compliance on the part of our people to the rules laid down in our church discipline relating to this matter, and that we pledge ourselves that we will use all honorable means and power to overthrow the rum traffic in our midst and secure prohibition.

The profanation of the Sabbath has been alarmingly on the increase, and the corporate and business bodies of our land are rapidly eliminating Sabbath from their business and corporate interests; and the general indifference of the laity in regard to Sabbath observance is becoming more and more manifest, and

WHEREAS, Certain serious attempts have been made and insidious influences are still at work seeking to weaken public sentiment in this question.

Resolved, That we view with alarm this condition of things, and call upon all Christians to awake to the danger menacing us.

Resolved, That we call upon all lovers of the Sabbath to openly and boldly condemn and resist all corporate and business infringement on the sanctity of the Sabbath.

Resolved, That we again call the attention of our members to the disciplinary regulations of our church concerning the Sabbath, and pledge ourselves as pastors to their more stringent enforcement.

Resolved, That as Christians it is our duty to resist by voice and vote all attempted legislative destruction of the sanctity of the Christian Sabbath.

He Thought It Was Mary.

A gentleman, who was slightly under the influence of liquor, called at police headquarters yesterday afternoon, says the Kansas City News, and asked the officer in charge where the judge was.

"What judge?" was asked.

"I don't care what judge. I want to get a divorce from my wife right straight away."

"What for?"

"I can't stand it any longer and I never go home any more but what my wife slams me all over the floor and jumps on me, and I'm going to have a divorce before I go home if it costs me fifty cents."

He was finally persuaded to "take a walk around the block," and he went out, vowing that if he didn't procure a separation before night he'd make a hole in the Missouri river.

On Main street, near Fifth, a contractor is making an excavation for some new buildings, and as our hero passed, several teams of mules were standing in the street at that point. As he passed one of the teams he dropped his hat, and as he stooped to pick it up one of the mules lifted him clean over himself and landed him on his collar bone.

"I knowed it!" he yelled. "I knowed it. I knowed I'd get it again. Now you stop, Mary, or I'll get a di—"

Then he looked up, saw the mule, picked his hat up, and lost himself in the crowd.

A Memory of Early Days.

Bane of childhood's tender years,
Swallowed oft with groans and tears,
How it made the flesh recoil,
Loathsome, greasy castor oil!
Search your early memory close,
Till you find another dose:
All the shuddering frame revolts
At the thought of Epsom salts!
Underneath the pill-box lid
Was a greater horror hid,
Climax of all inward ills,
Huge and griping old blue pills!

Railways in Japan.

London Times.

The first railway was opened in 1872. At the present time there are 600 miles of railway opened, 250 in course of construction, and about 700 in contemplation. The revenue of Japan is estimated at £13,322,812, expenditure about the same, total financial debt £40,248,541, of which only about £1,253,670 is borrowed. Japan is rapidly developing its navy.

The Fun He Missed.

King David is said to have been worth $3,000,000,000. Three billions is a big sum of money, and yet David could not ride on a railroad, send a telegram nor read a newspaper, so what good did it do him.

—o—

CHICAGO, HAMILTON CO., IND., Sept. 19, 1887.—The following is a true account of what your S. S. S. has done for our little daughter, Hazel, now four years old. When 12 months old a lump appeared on her heel, which slowly grew larger. The family physician thought it was caused by a piece of broken glass or needle, but failed to bring anything to light. The child became feebler all the time, seeming to lose the use of her leg, and finally quit walking entirely. The middle finger and thumb of either hand became enlarged, the flesh becoming hard. The hip joints became involved, so that when seventeen months old she could not stand, having lost the use of leg and arm. Partial curvature of the spine also followed. The nervous system was wrecked, muscles contracted, and there was general wasting of flesh and muscle. At eighteen months of age she was placed under the treatment of a prominent physician of Boston, Mass., but at the end of ten months she had declined to such a degree that she was in a dying condition. This was in April, 1886. We took the child away not knowing what to do. In this dreadful dilemma we were over-persuaded by friends to try "one bottle" of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC, which we did, and before it had all been taken we saw a change for the better in her symptoms. We kept it up, and have done so to this day, and will keep it up, if the Lord wills, for many days to come, for it has brought our dying Hazel to life, to vigor, to strength and health again. The ashen hue of her cheeks has changed to a rosy tint. She is able to walk anywhere, her languor and melancholy have passed away, and she is now a blithe, cheerful, happy romping child. Should you wish to increase your testimonials of proof of the virtue of S. S. S., our names and what we have said is but a portion of what we owe to you, should you wish to use them.

Kindly yours,
REV. F. SWIFT.

It is indeed a wonderful remedy—toning the nerves, strengthening the muscles, checking the waste, invigorating the whole system, and restoring the afflicted to HEALTH and HAPPINESS.

The reason so many cannot be cured of Weakness and the above diseases is owing to complication called PROSTATORRHEA with Hyperæsthesia, which requires special treatment.

DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2, with one peculiar special treatment, is the only possible cure for PROSTATORRHEA. By it MANHOOD is restored and the hand of time moved back from age to youth.

Dr. Liebig & Co. treat successfully by Homeopathy every form of SPECIAL, PRIVATE or CHRONIC DISEASES without mercury or nauseous drugs. If vitality is drained from the body, numerous diseases follow that baffle ordinary medical treatment. If allowed to continue, the unnatural loss causes Consumption, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Insanity, etc. Cures guaranteed. Diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs, kidneys, liver and bladder specially treated. DISEASES OF WOMEN SPEEDILY CURED.

Qualified and Responsible.—Dr. Liebig & Co., from Europe, are regular college educated physicians, and are now in their nineteenth year of special practice.

If pimples appear on the face and body, if you become listless and easily tired and exhausted, look out for the complication with Seminal Weakness, discovered at the LIEBIG DISPENSARY, known as Prostatorrhea. CHILD CRUSHED TO DEATH.

A Babe Toddling in the Street Run Over by a Wagon.

The Driver Arrested for Manslaughter—Statements From Two Persons Indicate That He was Blameless.

Yesterday afternoon at 1:15 George Willett Smithson, the fifteen-month-old son of John R. Smithson, a painter, living at the corner of Mill and Sixth streets, was accidentally run over and killed by a heavy loaded stone wagon drawn by four horses, at the corner of Seventh and Market streets. It seems that the child's mother had gone down town, leaving her baby in charge of her neighbor, Mrs. A. W. Hall, for the afternoon. Mrs. Hall losing sight of the child for a short time started to look for it, and when at the corner of Sixth and Market looking up the street she saw the little one in the middle of the street west of Seventh, just in front of the horses, and as she started to run, calling at the top of her voice at the same time, she lost sight of it as the wagon passed over. When she arrived at the scene of the accident some one had placed the bruised and unrecognizable remains on the sidewalk. She picked up the child and at once carried it to its home, and dispatched messengers for the father and mother. A physician was also summoned, but life was extinct before the child was picked up. The mother did not hear of the accident until she returned home, and was driven almost frantic with grief, as was Mr. Smithson. The child was an unusually bright and pretty little fellow and a great favorite in the neighborhood. The driver of the team, a young man named Nelson Fuller, was arrested about 3:30 o'clock and a charge of manslaughter booked against him, and in default of bail he is now in the city jail.

STATEMENT OF AN EYE-WITNESS.

Arthur Kutzschan, a young man living at the corner of Seventh and Market streets, who happened to be out in the garden working, says: "I knew there were a lot of children playing in the street, but had noticed nothing particularly, until hearing a man shouting excitedly and trying to stop his horses. I looked up and saw the child's body lying about a foot behind the rear wheel of the wagon, which had just come to a stop, the driver having made frantic efforts to use his brake. He at once got down from the wagon and seemed to feel terribly about it, saying 'that's the last team I ever drive,' and other expressions of sorrow and regret. I certainly think it was purely accidental. The driver staid around for half an hour and seemed dazed himself."

THE DRIVER'S STATEMENT.

At the city jail Nelson Fuller, the driver, was found incarcerated in the front room. He is a fine looking young man of 30, but does not look his age. He seemed very much troubled about the accident, and gave the reporter the following particulars of it:

"I have been in the city off and on for the past six years. Four days ago I began to drive for the Portland Macadamizing and Paving Company. About 1 o'clock I was going up Market street with a 5-ton load of crushed rock, taking it from the stone crusher to Eleventh street. I had just struck my off wheel horse and had the lines in my left hand, and, as you know, a four-horse whip is long and unwieldy. I was trying to get hold of the lash. I made several attempts and was reaching down to one side, my eyes following the lash as it slipped from my grasp. As I caught it I straightened up in the seat and caught sight of a child just as my lead-bars struck it to the ground. I at once reached for my brake, but as it is away under the side of the seat I missed it at first, and the forward wheels were already sliding off the crossing, and before I came to a dead stop, the rear wheels had passed over the poor little thing. I got off my wagon at once, and somebody had taken the child to the sidewalk, and there a woman picked it up and carried it away. I stayed around for about ten minutes; I did not know what to do, and at last some one told me, that I had better keep at work as it might cause trouble if I stopped. I wanted to go down and see Officer Nash whom I have known for a long time, to ask his advise as to what I had better do. About 3:30 o'clock a policeman arrested me and brought me here. I am broke, and there is nothing I can do to show my feeling in the matter, I hope at least to be able to get enough money to pay the funeral expenses."

MRS. HALL'S STORY.

Mrs. A. W. Hall to whose care the child had been committed had very little to say, except that she really saw nothing of the accident, but carried the lifeless remains to the Smithson's home; and that from the driver's actions and what she heard, at the time from the few witnesses of the affair, she thought he was entirely free from blame, and that it was one of those lamentable accidents which could not have been helped.

A COMEDIAN WHO LIKES OREGON.

One More Enthusiast Who Will Help to Boom the State.

Roland Reed, the brilliant young comedian playing this week at the New Park, is an old friend of Mr. D. Solis Cohen, of this city. They were boys together in Philadelphia. Mr. Cohen, who of late years has been too much engrossed in business to indulge his literary tastes, has written several short comedies for Mr. Reed. Among them are "Blinks" and "Doves and Pigeons," which Mr. Reed played with great success in "stock" days.

Mr. Reed is in love with Oregon, and says he never saw a more beautiful city than Portland. He doesn't talk that way simply to be pleasant, but because he is really impressed with the climate, the scenery, and the prosperity of this part of the world. And he knows how to pronounce Willamette. He doesn't get it Will-a-met nor Willam-ette, but, unlike most strangers, struck it just right the first time he made a dive at it. Mr. Reed is so enthusiastic about Oregon that Mr. Cohen is thinking seriously of having him write another "folder" for the immigration board.

The best family remedy is undoubtedly Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier. Relieves when others fail. Safe for infants.

THE INDUSTRIAL FAIR.

Meeting To-morrow to Decide Whether the Capital Stock Shall be Increased.

An Eastern agent of the Industrial fair is now studying up the workings of the American Institute fair in New York, which is one of the oldest organizations of its kind in America, having been incorporated in 1828. This agent has also been corresponding with inventors and manufacturers for the purpose of inducing them to make exhibits at the forthcoming fair in Portland. He has met with great success, and the Industrial fair consequently promises to be somewhat of a world's exhibit. Mr. Markle says it will be the largest, finest and most comprehensive ever given on the coast. To-morrow the stock holders will meet in the office of the Columbia Fire & Marine Insurance Company, to elect officers and vote for or against the proposition to increase the capital stock. Mr. A. N. King has signed an agreement to accept in stock, on the basis of $150,000 capital, one-half of the purchase price of the land bonded for the use of the industrial fair. Therefore it is urged that the increase is desirable, in fact necessary. Unless it is authorized the company will have to incur a large indebtedness to carry out the plans arranged. It was not known when the company was incorporated that such a large amount of land could be bonded, it being supposed that only two blocks could be obtained. If the capital stock is increased Mr. G. B. Markle says that $30,000 of the additional $50,000 will be subscribed at once.

THEY WERE TAKEN IN.

Two Michigan Loggers Fleeced in a Down-Town Dive.

R. A. Johnson and A. L. Loerke, loggers from Michigan, who arrived here Saturday night and were stopping at the International, were yesterday "bunkoed" out of all their available means by two sharpers. They came up town yesterday morning to an intelligence office to look for employment. A fellow who was loafing about the place told them he knew a man who wanted to employ loggers, and steered them to a place at the corner of Fourth and B streets, which the police say is a saloon down-stairs, kept by a fellow called Big Jim, and a bagnio above. The fellow who tolled the men to the place was a bunko steerer and he found there a confederate of whom he inquired concerning the mythical man who wanted to hire loggers, and was told that he had gone out. Then a game of cards was proposed to while away the time 'till he should return, and the two loggers were induced to take a hand.

After playing a short time, the old racket of changing the game to poker was sprung on the loggers. Three aces were dealt to one of them, who borrowed three twenty-dollar bills from his friend and staked them, and, of course, lost them to the sharper, who had a "full." Then the eyes of the loggers were opened, and they straightway hied them to the station. Policeman Barry went down and arrested Harry Clayton, the barkeeper at the den, and placed him in jail. According to his story he is the "most innocentest" man in town—does not know anything about poker, does not know the sharpers who fleeced the loggers, or anything about the matter. It is to be hoped that the two card sharps will be found and convicted.

TO DRUM FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Major Hendershot Accepts a Challenge from an Idaho Man—The Contest to Occur Here.

It is very likely that there will be a great drumming contest in Portland at an early date—not a contest over how much goods can be sold by men on the road, but drumming on drum heads. If the match comes off it will be between Major R. H. Hendershot, "the drummer boy of the Rappahannock," and George Elston, of Bellevue, Idaho. The drummer boy of the Rappahannock is now a rather large and a rather old boy, but his hand has not lost its cunning, and he is able to-day, as he was twenty-five years ago, to arouse among soldiers their fighting spirit with the roll of the drum.

In 1867, at Crosby's opera house, in Chicago, he won the championship of the United States as a drummer in a contest with Wm. Nevins and thirteen others, and has held it ever since. In late years he has received and accepted several challenges to take from him that distinction, but the would-be champions failed to come to time. Elston, however, seems to be in earnest, and his friends at Bellevue are very anxious to have him meet Hendershot. He has sent a challenge and Hendershot has accepted. The latter will insist that the contest be held in Portland, and thinks that next Fourth of July would be a good time and the regimental armory a good place for holding it.

Major Hendershot after traveling all over the United States has come to the conclusion that Oregon suits him better than any other state. He has bought a fruit farm near Ashland and will become a Webfoot. As he remarked to an OREGONIAN reporter: "There will be one solid republican vote added to Oregon's population."

WILL BUILD A BETTER PROTECTION.

Replacing the Damage Done by the Ice Jam Last Winter.

The pier protection of the Morrison street bridge which was swept away by the ice last winter is to be replaced, and a pile driver is now in position to do the work. The piles of the protection at the upper side of the bridge were only pushed over into a leaning position and not broken. These will be straightened up and firmly braced. The protection below the bridge was entirely swept away and will be replaced with new and stronger piling.

It has been a source of wonderment to many how the piling below the bridge was carried away, while that above which had to bear the full pressure, was only slightly damaged. The reason is that the piling below stood at an angle with the current and as the ice came down it was forced by the current against the side of the piling, with a pressure which the timbers could not withstand. The protection is 154 feet long above the bridge and 132 below, and is 30 feet wide. Superintendent Campbell says he intends to put in a protection this time which will withstand any pressure likely to be brought to bear against it, and when it goes out the bridge will go too.

HE ASKED FOR 90 DAYS' TIME

Joe Holladay as a Friend of His Brother's Family.

The Creditors Agree to Grant the Extension Asked, but Joseph Refuses to Accept Certain Conditions.

A few weeks ago, in the suit of Bogart et al. vs. Holladay, Judge Deady made a decree ordering the sale of the stock of Ben Holladay in the Oregon Real Estate Association to satisfy certain judgments against him. The stock is now in the hands of G. G. Gammans, as receiver, having been transferred to him by George W. Weidler, in conformity with an order from Judge Deady. Joe Holladay is not satisfied with the decree of the court, so it is said. He maintains that Weidler was the legal trustee of the stock in question and was entitled to hold it. This was in accordance with an agreement entered into between Weidler, Ben Holladay and Mrs. Holladay, whereby Weidler was to sell a part of the property and pay off the preferred creditors first and the others afterward.

PROPOSITION AND ANSWER.

After the recent decree referred to had been made, Holladay made a proposition to the creditors, offering to sell the estate in a manner that would leave the heirs something to look at. In reply thereto he has just received the appended communication:

PORTLAND, Or., April 27, 1888.

Mr. Joseph Holladay—Dear Sir: At our meeting day before yesterday, you requested a postponement of the sale of Oregon Real Estate Company stock until the expiration of ninety days, and you assured the creditors present of your ability to sell enough of the real estate of the company to satisfy the decree in question within such time and save something for Holladay and the children if you were allowed to do so.

We now make you the following offer: We will stipulate for a postponement of the sale as you request and consent that you have authority to sell such real estate in such parcels and at such reasonable figures as you see fit, the proceeds of such sales to be paid to the receiver so as to be made available in payment of the decree.

This offer is upon the single condition that you will give your personal guarantee to raise the money to pay the debts within the time mentioned. We make this condition to avoid any more of the experiences of being "put off" in order to give the property a chance to increase in value, of which the unsecured creditors have had so much during the past two years.

We have no doubt that all the creditors will join in the proposed stipulation and agreement, and we will undertake to secure such agreement on their part if you will upon receipt of this, or within a reasonable time, notify us that you accept this offer.

We further say that none of the creditors provided for in the trust deed of August 31, 1880, are pressing their debts. They are willing to wait another year or longer, if accruing interest on their debts is paid as contemplated in their agreement.

If you will pay off the Bogart people and two-thirds of the Hickox judgment we are confident all the other parties interested in the decree will agree to any reasonable extension of time. To do this will require less than $60,000. The creditors will undertake to raise this money if you will permit it to be done, on your lien upon the residence property alone, upon terms that will not involve any sacrifice of it leaving all other property intact. Very truly,

JAMES K. KELLY,
DOLPH, BELLINGER, MALLORY & SIMON,
For themselves and as attorneys in fact for August Belmont, the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, and S. L. M. Barlow.

JOSEPH HOLLADAY WILL NOT CONSENT.

It is learned authentically that Joe Holladay will not consent to the proposition. He considers it a very polite invitation to spend $60,000 without any guarantee of reimbursement. He has said that he can sell enough of the estate in ninety days to pay off $300,000 indebtedness. He wants to dispose of the property according to his ideas of the value of real estate.

He estimates that the stock of the Oregon real estate company is worth about $1,000,000, representing two-thirds of the Holladay estate. It includes 175 blocks in Holladay's addition to East Portland worth about $800,000; thirty-four acres near the car shops, on the east side, worth $17,000; lot on Fifth and Columbia streets, Portland, worth $4000; 200 acres near Olympia, W. T., worth $3000 or $4000; three blocks in McMinnville, worth $3000; hotel and other property at Cornelius, worth $5000; St. Joseph farm, Yamhill county, worth $30,000; Halsey house, Portland, worth $30,000; three lots, First and F streets (Clarendon hotel site) Portland, worth $40,000; triangle block, First and F streets, $10,000; Clatsop county property, $60,0000. On this property Joseph Holladay holds liens, as follows: St. Joseph farm, $15,000; Halsey house, $15,000; Clatsop property, $20,000; triangle block, $2500; Clarendon site, $30,000.

LAWN TENNIS FOR "BLOOD."

The Military Eager to Win Back Laurels Lost Last Year.

The Vancouver Barracks Lawn Tennis Club have formally challenged the Multnomah Tennis Club for a match of doubles and singles. The game will come off Saturday next at 2:30 o'clock at the tennis courts, corner Eighteenth and H streets. In the match last year, Messrs. Adams and Valentine, of the Multnomah club, beat Messrs. Reynolds and Gibbon, of the Barracks, and in the singles, Mr. Reynolds defeated Mr. Valentine. The chances are that this time the Barracks will carry off all the honors. The crack players here have not practiced any this season, while the Barracks people have been in hard work for at least two months.

Just who will be sent over from the barracks, or who will be matched against them is not known, but for the afore-mentioned obvious reasons, the odds are in favor of the army people. The courts are in perfect condition and, if the day is fine, a large crowd will be assembled to witness the game. Great interest in the approaching match is manifested by the ladies, and a full representation of the fair sex is looked for. It will not only make the courts more attractive, but will nerve the players to their utmost.

A Man Who Cures Mossbackism—A Full Guarantee.

Are you a mossback? Read the following and see. This disease of the brain is not confined to any age in the individual man. We often find it (first stages) in young manhood on his first legs with his board bill unpaid for a month—in good clothes, however. The symptoms of the disease are varied in their nature. For instance, should you find yourself doubting that Portland's population within ten years will be over 200,000, then you have a sure symptom of the mossback disease. Or if you doubt that the big hotel will be built, or the cable railway will be completed, or the railroad bridge finished, or the Bull Run system perfected, or that a large opera house be built, or that the water power from Oregon City falls will be transmitted to Portland and Albina, or that the Industrial Fair will be pushed to completion, or that the car shops at Albina will be running and employing a thousand men or more, or that Albina's population will be more than 15,000 within four years, or that the street car line will be built to Vancouver, or that the table lands between the Columbia and Willamette are the finest as well as the healthiest residence property in the country, or that sunshine is not essential to good health, or that the land north of Albina has one hour more of sunshine each day than West Portland residence property, or that the Columbia will be opened for free navigation, or that the state of Oregon is not fast filling up and will double her population in ten years, or if you think all the property worth having is a corner lot on First street, or you doubt that the Columbia mills at Lacamas makes the best paper on earth—if you doubt any one or all of these facts you are surely afflicted with mossbackism and are in need of immediate treatment. In fact, you are in great danger, and if not treated immediately your life is not worth a cent. Moss has formed on your brain and nothing but the most skillful surgery will effect a cure. I will guarantee a cure in three and a half minutes of all in the first stages of the disease. If, on examination, however, I find your case requires extreme measures, you will be allowed to go home, bid farewell to your friends and family, and make your will. During your absence my office will be placed in order, and on your return I will proceed at once to open your cranium by commencing at leualortabiietalaymaemase and continue cutting until occptitoforitis is reached. If it is possible I will save your life by removing the "moss," your disease. During this operation, requiring great skill (I have the skill), you will be perfectly unconscious, and you will be quite near your long home. But in my opinion (if I'm not successful, however, my books show that I am, as I cure one in a thousand) death would be better for you (at my hands), for a far more painful death awaits you in the near future, caused by the carwheels of advancement loaded so heavily with enterprise that when it strikes your feet, starting on its mission to crush you inch by inch, you will think, and your deluded brain will be convinced that the earth has changed its axis and you are the pole.

Oh! a fearful death poverty must be. Your disease (lack of confidence) means poverty.

Consultations free. Office hours, from 7 A. M. to 4 P. M. 405 First street; rooms 3 and 4 (upstairs).

THE STAGE.

ROLAND REED AT THE NEW PARK.—"The Woman Hater" was repeated last evening, to the keen delight of the intelligent audience present. The trials of Mr. Bundy, as delineated by Mr. Reed, threw the house into roars of laughter, and his humorous personation of the perplexities into which the alleged woman hater becomes involved by his awkwardness was thoroughly enjoyed.

To-night last performance of "The Woman Hater." To-morrow night Mr Reed will give for the first time to a Portland audience his most amusing farcical and musical comedy, by Marsden, "Humbug," in which he will introduce new topical songs, piano recitals, and his pocket edition of "Erminie," the great New York comic opera success.

BIG SUPPLY OF VEAL.

"I never knew so many calves being sent to this market as at the present time" said a butcher yesterday as an expressman backed up in front of his shop.

"What is the occasion of this?" asked a reporter. "People think there are too many cattle in the country now," said the butcher. "Two years ago young cattle were bought up for the ranges of Eastern Oregon, Idaho and Montana, by the thousand, but last season there was no demand, and there is but small demand and low prices this year, consequently veal is plenty." The public will not object to a plentiful supply of veal if it does not jeopardize the prospects for cheap beef in the future.

It is beautifully situated on the river opposite the north end of Portland, and DOWN the river from the central portion of Portland. The bridges already built, under construction and contemplated, are fast driving the heavy business of the city and nearly all of the shipping further and further down stream. Soon all of it will be carried on below the railway and passenger bridge. Albina will get the benefit of this move, and even now she has the

These shops have just been completed, and will soon commence operations with a large force of workmen.

Other industrial enterprises are located here, among which are the Portland Flouring Mills, the largest in Oregon. A dry dock capable of accommodating the largest ship afloat, is now also under construction. Several companies are now organizing to embark in other industrial and manufacturing enterprises, all of which will be located at Albina, because it is here that
